Storms Hit West Area, Deaths Rise

Blizzards Sweep Two States, Eight Listed As Victims

BY FINIS MOTHERSHEAD

DENVER (AP) — Towering snow drifts blocked travel again today in east central Colorado and the southeast corner of Wyoming.

Winds up to 60 m.p.h., backlashing from a storm which dumped paralyzing snow two days earlier, churned blinding ground blizzards late yesterday.

The snowstorm toll mounted to eight deaths in Colorado.

Farther south in Colorado, fresh dust was stirred high in the air despite the drought-denting moisture only 48 hours beforehand.

Giant rotary snowplows carved a path through fresh drifts so patrolmen could lead a stalled convoy of 40 cars the last 16 miles into Cheyenne from the west over U. S. Highway 30. Another group of 25 cars was led past deep drifts on U. S. 85-87 at a point seven miles south of the Wyoming capital.

Many Roads Blocked

Crews were laboring trying to reopen half a dozen major routes northward from Cheyenne and Laramie, Wyo., between those cities and in Colorado eastward from Denver and Colorado Springs.

Preparations were made for delivery of a baby expected by Mrs. John Faris, 33, at a Buford, Wyo., crossroads store, but her race with the stork proved less close than expected.

Her husband cushioned a boat with blankets and towed it through deep snowdrifts with horses to get Mrs. Faris to Buford after a snowplow was unable to reach their home. Convoyed by another plow, she then was driven 24 miles through a ground blizzard to Laramie.

After spending the night at a hotel, she planned to board a train to Cheyenne — the opposite direction from Buford—so her doctor could deliver the baby at a hospital there. U. S. Highway 30 between Laramie and Cheyenne was blocked by two huge snowdrifts.

ATLANTA (AP)—Gully - washing rain and vicious, erratic wind storms hit Georgia early today and last night, killed four persons, flattened homes and farm buildings and stalled a fast passenger train.

Hardest hit was the area around Ellaville, Oglethorpe and Montezuma, about 110 miles south of Atlanta. Two children were killed near Ellaville in Schley County, and two in adjoining Macon County. At least 34 homes or (Continued on Page 2; Col. 4)

Extra Fund Pledged To Department

Summerfield Had Threatened Slash Orders Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today informally approved a 17 million dollar extra appropriation for the Post Office and agreed to consider next Friday a request for 30 millions more.

Implied in the committee's action was an understanding that the department would not put into effect tomorrow sharp service curtailments which Postmaster General Summerfield had said would be ordered if extra money was not provided at once.

The department has requested Congress to give it an extra 47 million dollars for the next three months. An appropriations subcommittee approved 17 millions of the request last Wednesday.

Curtailment Threatened

Summerfield said that was inadequate, and announced that starting tomorrow he would order such steps as to halt city and rural mail deliveries on Saturdays and stop selling money orders.

He has said unforeseen expenses stemmed from increased mail volume and the need to serve expanding residential areas.

When the Appropriations Committee met today to consider the annual money bill for the Commerce Department, most Republicans and some Democrats favored immediate action on the Post Office funds, but a motion to consider the matter was ruled out of order.

Finally, however, after a reportedly tempestuous session, the committee agreed to notify Summerfield he could count on at least 17 million dollars and that the committee would consider how much more, if any, to give him at a meeting next Friday.

Last night, Summerfield sent a telegram to Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee asking him to "expedite urgently the action and report of the Appropriations Committee to the House so that if further funds are voted they will be available before two much damage is done to the service."

Cannon Sees "Threats"

The full committee has not yet acted on the subcommittee's recommendation. Cannon, however, has indicated displeasure at what he says is a department effort to use "threats" on Congress.

In his telegram, Summerfield said that "with total reluctance" his department is planning to curtail postal service to meet the cut "imposed" by the subcommittee.

Summerfield has said that unless more money is assured, he plans to order, effective tomorrow, a halt in Saturday mail deliveries in cities and rural areas, and a reduction in deliveries to city business districts, discontinuance of money order sales, and other service cutbacks.

Federal Aid For Schools Urged By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, stressing need for more classrooms, says America's schools are "more powerful even than the energy of the atom" and more important than guided missiles.

The President put it that way last night in a new appeal for congressional approval of the administration's school construction program.

In an address at the centennial dinner of the National Education Assn. and to a nationwide radio audience, Eisenhower linked school training of the nation's youth to the quest for enduring world peace.

"The hope of the world," he said, "is that wisdom can arrest conflict between brothers. I believe that war is the deadly harvest of arrogant and unreasoning minds."

But the strength of America's arms, he said, always is related to the strength of the minds of its people.

"Our schools are strong points in our national defense," he said. "Our schools are more important than our Nike batteries, more necessary than our radar warning nets, and more powerful even than the energy of the atom."

Eisenhower sounded his new appeal for action a few hours after the first step in Congress toward easing the classroom shortage.

A House Education subcommittee yesterday approved 6-1 a bill to authorize a five-year, two-billion-dollar program of federal grants to help the states build schools.

The bill, scheduled to go before the full committee next Thursday, is a compromise between the administration's plan for a four-year $1,300,000,000 program and a suggestion by Democrats for a six-year, $3,600,000,000 program.

Gambling Raid Money Involved In Tug-Of-War

BALTIMORE (AP)—The city, the federal government and a man in prison are involved in a tug-of-war over $12,000 seized in a gambling raid.

Police Commissioner James Hepbron contends the money should go to the police death benefit fund.

The government claims it should go to pay off taxes allegedly owed by 31-year-old Frank Comi, now serving a five-year sentence for a lottery law violation.

Comi also has laid claim to the $12,332, seized in a raid on his home in October, 1955.

Bar Becomes Inferno

Gasoline Bomb Kills Six In L. A. Tavern

(Picture on Page 11)

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—A makeshift gasoline bomb turned a quiet neighborhood bar into a funeral pyre for at least six persons shortly before midnight.

The coroner said six persons died at the scene on a quiet street in south central Los Angeles. At least five others were injured.

Police said the bomb apparently was thrown through the front door of the Club Mecca by three men who had been ejected earlier when they tried to dance with one of the cocktail bar's regular woman customers.

Asst. Fire Chief R. A. Williams said the men sloshed a bucket of gasoline, or some other highly inflammable liquid, onto the floor and then threw a match in after it.

"It went up like a blow torch," said the bartender, Larry Fenton, 24, who escaped uninjured out the back door.

Others weren't that lucky. One male customer was found on a nearly melted corner barstool, leaning slightly backward against the shattered front wall. Two charred bodies were found in one of the cafe's four booths. Another was on the bar floor.

The only woman victim ran screaming into the street, clothes ablaze. She died soon after, near the body of another victim.

Two other customers escaped the flames by running into a restroom and were rescued by firemen.

Inside, the small cafe was a blackened ruin.

The three men who threw the bomb escaped in a car amidst a barrage of gunfire from a passerby. Vernon Waggy, 24, told police he was walking down the street when he saw the men running.

"I pulled out a .32 caliber automatic which I carry for protection and fired at them. I think I hit one," he said.

Subway Fire Halts Trains

NEW YORK (AP)—An estimated 50,000 homeward - bound subway passengers were delayed up to an hour and a half last night when a smoky fire broke out on the Broadway-7th Avenue IRT line.

Three persons were overcome by smoke and a fourth was taken to a hospital with an injured foot. None of the injuries were serious.

A subway train short-circuited shortly after 5 p.m. just south of the 103rd Street station, setting fire to oil-soaked ties and filling the tunnel with dense smoke.

Rain, Cooler Weather Due

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five-day forecast: Saturday partial clearing. Mild and cooler Sunday. Warmer Monday and again Tuesday or Wednesday with some rain likely Monday or Tuesday. Temperatures, will average near normal. Normal highs are 60-65 except in the upper 50s in Western Maryland. Lows range from the lower 30s in Western Maryland to the lower 40s in Southern Maryland.

10 Refugees Arrested In D. C. Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten young Hungarian refugees, arrested last night for demonstrating outside the Communist Hungarian legation, were expected to forfeit collateral today rather than appear in municipal court.

The youths, who fled their homeland after the Soviet army crushed a revolt there last fall, were freed from jail after a total of $120 in collateral was posted for them by the American Hungarian Federation.

The incident occurred during a legation party celebrating the 12th anniversary of the Red army's "liberation" of Hungary from Nazi forces.

The 10 youths, all in their early 20s, were charged with violating District of Columbia law which forbids demonstrations within 500 feet of a foreign mission.

Four of them pulled up to the legation in a taxicab, jumped out and shouted, "Dirty Communist murderers!" Police, fearful they were trying to crash the party, arrested them.

Grain Trading Active

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat, corn and soybean futures were easy at the opening on the Board of Trade today in active dealings. Oats continued to show independent firmness.

British Liner Leaves France

CHERBOURG, France (AP)—The Queen Mary sailed for New York with 1,100 passengers today after a trip to Europe on which she steered clear of her home port of Southampton.

The 81,000-ton Queen Mary docked at Cherbourg Monday, bypassing, Southampton, where 1,124 of her passengers had expected to land. She kept out of the British port because of a blacklisting by British shipyard workers. Union leaders took the action on grounds repairs to the luxury liner were not completed when Britain's shipyard strike began and the liner began her previous trip to New York with the help of government lugs.

British Claim Another Atom Test By Reds

LONDON (AP)—The Russians carried out another nuclear test Wednesday, the British Defense Ministry announced.

It was the seventh Soviet test reported since last August, when the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced the start of a Russian test series.

The AEC announced the sixth explosion on March 9, saying it had occurred the day before.

The 10-word British announcement gave no details of the type or size of the latest explosion. It said only: "The Soviet Union carried out another nuclear test on Wednesday."

Earlier this week the Russians rejected a Japanese appeal to suspend test explosions. Soviet Foreign Ministry press chief Leonid F. Ilyichev said that without a big power agreement to end tests, the Soviet Union would have to continue perfecting its weapons in the interest of its own security.

The British government also has refused requests from the Japanese government and the opposition Labor party that it call off its test soon of Britain's first hydrogen bomb, at Christmas Island in the Pacific. The government said the tests were necessary for the defense of the free world, in the absence of a disarmament agreement.

Cops Suspended In Lottery Case

ATLANTA (AP) — Eleven veteran officers with a combined record of 114 years in the Atlanta Police Department have been suspended pending completion of a flottery investigation.

Police Chief Herbert Jenkins suspended the men last night in a special order approved by the Aldermanic Police Committee. A Fulton County grand jury also is investigating lottery operations in the city.

Actress Seeks Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Hollywood and Broadway actress Janis Paige filed suit for divorce today from Producer Arthur Stander.

Miss Paige, star of the Broadway hit, "Pajama Game," said that a property settlement already has been agreed upon. She did not seek alimony.

Rancher Uses Boat As Sled

LARAMIE, Wyo. (INS)—A rancher battled four miles of snowdrifts from his isolated ranch to a highway yesterday to help pull his wife, an expectant mother, on a rowboat.

John Faris, 38, used two saddle horses to pull the boat sled-fashion to a store at Buford, 30 miles west of Cheyenne. The trip took two hours.

House Group Cuts Request Made By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today slashed 25 per cent from President Eisenhower's requests for new Commerce Department funds.

The committee recommended $653,685,060 in new appropriations for the department and related agencies for the fiscal year starting next July 1. This was $217,827,940 less than Eisenhower requested and $68,950,076 below appropriations for the current year.

The committee apparently was mindful of what happened on its last bill, financing the Labor and Welfare departments. It cut 118 million dollars from that measure only to have the House itself slash off an extra 15 millions. Still another 53 millions tentatively cut by the House was restored on roll call votes yesterday.

The Commerce Department measure was the sixth annual money bill sent to the House this year by the committee and shoved well over the billion dollar mark the aggregate cuts in appropriations requested by the President.

Two 'Hit-Skip' Drivers Escape As Victim Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—An unidentified man was killed last night when struck almost simultaneously by two hit-and-run drivers on a Manhattan street.

A witness told police the driver of the first car didn't even slow down.

The driver of the second car stopped sharply, got out, looked at the body, shouted to onlookers "It wasn't my fault," and drove on.

Case Rested, Defense Asks Doctor Freed

LONDON (AP) — The defense for Dr. John Bodkin Adams rested its case with dramatic suddenness today and appealed to the jury to free the 58-year-old society doctor accused of murder.

Chief defense counsel Geoffrey Lawrence argued that Dr. Adams was only trying to "ease the misery" of the widow he is charged with drugging to death to inherit a chest of silver and a Rolls-Royce car.

Leaning toward the jury of 10 men and 2 women in Old Bailey courtroom, the defense lawyer told in a quiet voice why he did not put Dr. Adams on the witness stand to tell his own story of the death of Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell in Eastbourne in 1950.

Emphasizing the "strain" which he said Dr. Adams had been living under since his arrest five months ago, Lawrence declared he decided against requiring him to "endure the ordeal" of testifying.

Lawrence said Dr. Adams' records on the Morrell case had been destroyed and that by taking the stand he would have been asked "to cast back his memory over the gulf of six years."

Lawrence asserted the issue was not whether Dr. Adams was a "good or bad" doctor in prescribing drugs but whether he is guilty of murder.

U. S. Will Not Fill 'Vacuum'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic and military officials reported today that the United States has no plans to fill any "vacuums" which may be created by Britain's announced intention to cut back its military forces.

The reduction program, announced in London yesterday, is regarded in official quarters here as an unhappy but unavoidable result of Britain's need to cut costs.

The net result, it was generally agreed, will be a weakening of the available security strength of the free world although this effect will be offset in some degree by providing greater firepower for the smaller British forces, partly with U.S. aid.

Presley Debate On Scholarship Results In Tie

ATLANTA (AP)—The question of whether "Elvis Presley deserves an athletic scholarship" still is unresolved.

Members of the Harvard University and Georgia Tech debating teams fought to a tie over that perplexing resolution last night.

Harvard took the negative approach to the athletic ability of the rock 'n' roll performer. Paying Presley would be a waste of money, Harvard said.

The Tech viewpoint seemed to be that Presley would be an asset because of his competitive spirit.

Three Children Trapped In Safe, Saved By Firemen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three children spent 1½ hours trapped in a deserted mansion's walk-in safe last night before firemen could tear open the door.

The youngsters did not say who locked them in as they were playing in the partly demolished building in Pacific Heights.

Firemen knocked the dial off the 7x10-foot safe's door in order to press in an oxygen tube. That prevented use of the combination which turned up shortly afterwards.

A professional safe mechanic finally jimmied the door enough so that firemen could pry it open. Efforts to pierce the massive concrete and steel walls had failed.

The three children, all members of prominent families, were Cheri Stevenson, 11; David Rude, 15; and William Moore, 16.

Cheri's 13-year-old sister Cathy sounded the alarm when she found the door of the tomblike vault shut tight.

The children said they had agreed not to use oxygen by talking while they were imprisoned. Their attempts to tell jokes when firemen reached them with the oxygen tube failed. Couldn't think of any.

Rude, an Eagle Scout, said at first "we couldn't believe anyone could have locked us in."

Beck Erred In Ignoring English

No. 2 Man In Union Tried To Curb Boss Years Ago

BY NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Everybody makes mistakes, but one of Dave Beck's worst was ignoring John F. English, a top fellow officer of the giant Teamsters Union.

English is a 67-year-old Irishman who as a teen-age boy went to work guiding a horse-drawn dumpcart through the elegant Beacon Hill section of Boston.

As general secretary-treasurer of the Teamsters, English began drawing the reins on Beck's tangled financial deals with union funds long before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee became interested in the Teamsters president.

Beck never paid too much attention to English, his No. 2 man in the Teamsters. He dealt with English's subordinates on money matters.

But back in 1955 English balked at the union's buying Beck's Seattle home for $160,000 and letting Beck continue to use it rent-free.

That didn't seem too sensible to English, a conservative and careful man. He gave in on the home purchase only after the union's entire executive board put an okay in writing.

A year later, English wouldn't pay out some $50,000 for the union to buy Beck's home furnishings — even with board approval. And he recently queered Beck's plan for a million-dollar, union-paid publicity program in Beck's behalf.

That followed Beck's statement —and refusal to testify — that he used some $300,000 to $400,000 in union funds from other echelons of the union than the national level over which English guards the purse strings.

Saying "no" to Beck took a bit of courage.

What type of man is this courageous Teamster?

He shuns publicity. Practically every newsman in town wants to interview English, but his "no" to them, through aides, is as firm as his replies to Beck.

Congress 'Witch-Hunters' Blamed In Envoy's Suicide

TOKYO (AP) — Major Japanese newspapers today expressed sorrow editorially at the suicide of Canadian Ambassador Herbert Norman and bitterly criticized what they called the "Red witch hunt" in the U. S. Congress.

Norman jumped from a building in Cairo yesterday after the U.S. Senate Internal Security subcommittee revived charges that he had been a Communist.

The death of the 48-year-old Canadian diplomat excited the Japanese particularly because he had been born in Japan, of missionary parents, spent his preuniversity years here and headed the Canadian mission in Tokyo after the World War II surrender.

The Japanese already were aroused because the Senate subcommittee last month quizzed Prof. Shigeto Tsuru, a Japanese government official now lecturing at Harvard University, about reports that he had Communist links during student days in the United States.

OTTAWA (AP) — The United Church of Canada, the nation's largest Protestant denomination, last night joined parliamentary leaders of all parties in condemning the U. S. Senate Internal Security subcommittee for its Communist allegations against Herbert Norman.

Reds Warn West Allies Of Massive Retaliation

LONDON (AP) — The Russians, continuing their warnings to America's NATO allies, have threatened devastating retaliation for any nuclear attacks from bases in Britain, the Netherlands and West Germany.

Moscow radio made the warnings last night in broadcasts beamed to the three countries.

They followed recent letters from Soviet Premier Bulganin to the governments of Norway and Denmark, only Scandinavian countries in NATO. Bulganin told both countries that Russia wants peace but would retaliate with great destruction for any atomic attack.

The broadcast last night in Dutch commented on Dutch Defense Minister Cornelius Staf's current visit to the United States for talks on military aid. The Broadcast said the Dutch people should be told "the grave truth—that the Soviet Union would, in the event of an attack, not shrink from destroying the springboards used for aggression against it."

Commentator Alexander Melinkov declared one H-bomb dropped on the U. S. base at Soesterberg, in central Holland, would "obliterate Amsterdam, The Hague, Utrecht, Amersfoort and the whole area between these cities."

The broadcast to Britain said that in any nuclear war Western European countries could be "hit, and hit hard, all over their length and breadth."

West Germany was told that any move to equip the new German army with nuclear weapons would entail "many dangers" for the country. The broadcast said that West Germany would be the main theater in any atomic war.

UN Official, Nasser Agree

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The newspaper Al Ahram said today U.N. Undersecretary General Ralph Bunche and Egyptian officials have agreed that no barbed wire barriers or minefields will be placed along the Gaza Strip's borders with Israel.

The paper said the agreement was reached in negotiations on the functions of the U.N. Emergency Force in the strip.

Bunche stayed in Cairo to negotiate details after U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold reached a "gentlemen's agreement" with President Nasser during Hammarskjold's recent visit.

Coal Production Hike Estimated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Coal Assn. today estimated bituminous production for the week ended March 30 as about 10,565,000 tons, or slightly higher than the 10,260,000 tons mined in the week ended March 23.

Production for the corresponding week in 1956 was 10,311,000 tons.

Output Jan. 1 through March 30 was estimated at about 125,825,000 tons, under the 130,658,000 tons reported for the same period a year ago.

Check On Refugees Set By Immigration Agency

WASHINGTON (INS) — The federal government today prepared a "remote control" neighborhood check of the more than 21,000 Hungarian refugees admitted to the U. S. since last October.

Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing disclosed plans for the novel screening in testimony released today by the House Appropriations Subcommittee.

Youth Finds Car Sticker Not Needed

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—(INS)—A 15-year-old youth purchased a $5 auto sticker and eventually wrote the Chattanooga City Council:

"I bought a $5 city sticker for an old car I wanted to rebuild and use. I never got the car to run. I never took the sticker out of the envelope and I need the $5 very badly."

He got his money back.

Chilean Reds Ask Protest

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—The outlawed Chilean Communist party sounded a clandestine call today for a continuation of the anti-inflation violence that has left an estimated 40 or more persons dead in Santiago.

Printed leaflets circulated through the quiet but tense Chilean capital bearing the Red message. It called for an end to "repression and dictatorship."

It exhorted the working classes to rally around the Central Workers Union, the nation's most powerful labor organization, and the leftist Popular Action Front to achieve their aims.

Governor Picks Kennell, Blake

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Underwood failed to make his expected appointment of a road commissioner today, but named a new labor commissioner and a adjutant general.

H. Richard Kennell of Morgantown was appointed to succeed Charles J. F. Sattler as commissioner of labor. William E. Blake of Ronceverte was named to replace Maj. Gen. Charles R. Fox as adjutant general. Both appointments are effective April 15.

Solon Claims Worthy Case 'Side Issue'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) accused the State Department today of raising "a side issue" to divert attention from its refusal to permit newsmen to enter Red China.

O'Mahoney said the department "owes an apology" to Negro newsman William Worthy for testimony the senator said was "intended to show he had been jailed for refusing to go to a conscientious objectors camp" in World War II.

In Chicago, Worthy said he refused to go to a CO camp in 1943 on grounds there was racial discrimination in assignments to such camps. He said he never was prosecuted, but was classified 4-F because of an ulcer.

O'Mahoney is a member of a Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee inquiring into the State Department's ban against Americans, including newsmen, entering Communist China.

Worthy, who works for the Baltimore Afro-American, defied that ban and visited Red China late last year. Earlier this week, the department turned down his application for a new passport.

Storms Hit

barns were reported destroyed or badly damaged.

From this area, the storm apparently tore on northeastward. It dipped down at Warner Robins to blow out windows and lift a number of roofs. It also struck again between Jeffersonville, in Twiggs County, and Macon.

Across the state eastward in the Thomson - Augusta district, another bad blow took away porches and roofs, leveled a few buildings and uprooted numerous trees. Thomson was left without electric power for a considerable period.

House Blown Down

One or two houses also were reported blown down on a road leading to the Clark Hill power development on the Savannah River near Augusta.

Rainfall exceeding four inches in 24 hours in some localities sent streams rising to dangerous levels flooded cellars, washed out country roads and small bridges.

The Central of Georgia's City of Miami passenger train was stalled for several hours just south of Buena Vista, Ga., by a washout. It finally got moving again around 9:20 a.m.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the Flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Arab Split

THE ARAB WORLD continues to live in a state of inner crisis. This fact has been evidenced anew by the situation in Syria. A struggle for power between leftist, pro-Russian and pro-Nasser elements against conservatives hangs in the balance. Lieut. Col. Abdel Hammid Serraj, reportedly pro-Nasser and pro-Russian, is still chief of military intelligence. But to date there has been no indication that he has sufficient strength to take over the country. At the same time, efforts to change Serraj's post have failed.

AT THE MOMENT and in a changing situation, it appears that the two sides in the Arab world are probing and feeling each other out; it is like the first few movements of pawns and knights in a chess game. But one important feature of the situation is that there are numerous young officers and intellectuals in the Arab world who are driving for power.

THEIR LEADER is Colonel Nasser. They grew up and lived through their formative intellectual years at a time when the West — always represented more by Europe rather than America— suffered through the fears and decaying throes of the dictators, Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini. Fascism appears to have influenced some of this group. Besides the East-West issue and the danger of Russian infiltration in the Arab world, we must recognize this added factor. It is important. A new generation of army officers and intellectuals is moving towards the power it seeks. This generation may succeed or fail, but most decidedly it has given no indication that it will side with America and the democratic cause.

General Doctors

A DISTINGUISHED small town physician gave some good advice, the other day, to the medical profession in general and medical schools in particular. The heeding of this advice would eventually mean better medical care for many Americans, especially in rural areas. It is the belief of Dr. Malcolm E. Phelps of El Reno, Okla., the new president of the American Academy of General Practice, that emphasis on training specialists has brought about a national "maldistribution of doctors." The specialists tend to concentrate in large cities, and there are not enough general practitioners to provide adequate medical care in rural sections of the country. Addressing the Academy, which is the second largest medical group in the nation, Dr. Phelps also said that because of intense competition among specialists, some of them "attempt to carry on a genera. practice, in which they have been inadequately trained." He expressed the belief that specialists should no more engage in general practice than the other way around. As a solution, the new president of the Acadamy of General Practice would have the medical schools adjust their curricula so that all their graduates were well trained generalists capable of treating the entire patient." On the face of it, the number of doctors in this country is adequate. But, as Dr. Phelps points out, there is some maldistribution. Training a higher proportion of general practitioners, and recognizing their extraordinary importance in communities that have too few specialists, would do much to improve the situation.

Victory For Ramps

THE ABOLITION of entrance steps might benefit more people than any other building change. People with heart trouble find these difficult to navigate. Even more so do the crippled, especially those who have to use wheel chairs. These unfortunates have just gained an important victory. The new Pennsylvania building code requires that future buildings of more than 30,000 square feet must have safe entrance and exit facilities for the disabled. This involves ramps equipped with handrails, and of gradual elevation. Schools and colleges should be similarly equipped. Many institutions are out of the question for wheel chair students to enter because the buildings have flights of steps at the entrance. The same is true of churches, municipal buildings, libraries, museums and theaters. Those in charge of buildings of this sort to be erected in the near future should have this requirement in mind.

Michigan Election Brings Joy To Demos

WASHINGTON — What is becoming an adventure in political regularity, if not yet in political perpetual motion, is the way Democrats keep on winning elections at the state level.

Indeed, the party's sweep of the 10 top statewide offices at stake in Monday's election in Michigan — a state which once had strong Republican leanings — is being interpreted by Democrats as a most happy augury for victory in next year's Congressional elections for the third time in a row.

Likewise, it adds to the prestige of Michigan's five-time Democratic Governor, G. Mennen Williams, who has done so much to revitalize the Democratic party in that state.

This he has accomplished not only by his seemingly inexhaustible energy at organization and campaigning, but by giving rank-and-file citizens a government that takes an interest in their welfare. The latter encourages and strengthens his firm alliance with organized labor.

HE WORKS long hours at being Governor. When election times comes around, he works long hours on the stump, traveling the circuit. He has so identified himself with the people that "Mennen" and Michigan have become almost synonymous.

He won his first election in 1948 by visiting practically every city, town and village in his state. Thus he began to break the Republican grip on Michigan.

Another spring election victory, which Republicans always won until a Democratic break-through two years ago, gives Governor Williams another card in his certain bid for top or second place on the 1960 Democratic ticket.

For such a bid, control of the state party organization is always most helpful — and as a result of Monday's triumph, Democrats now occupy all of the state's top elective offices. The last two Republicans in this hierarchy were ousted when Democrats were elected as state highway commissioner and state superintendent of public education.

IT IS ONLY coincidental, but nevertheless interesting, that newspapers carried on the same day the news of another Democratic state victory and, out of here, the final report by the clerk of the House of Representatives showing how much stronger the Democratic party was in last November's election than the Republican party. That seems just as true today, five months later.

The other clear showing of last November's election also seems to hold. That is that the Republican party is still mainly a one-man party, the one man being "Ike."

For the final official figures show that the President ran nearly seven million votes ahead of the party's candidates for the House of Representatives, which is a whopping gap. His popular total was 35,581,003; that of the Republican candidates for the House was 28,697,682.

REPUBLICAN candidates for the House also ran 1,134,000 votes behind Democratic candidates for Congress. The Democratic party, on the other hand, was much stronger than its Presidential candidate, Adlai Stevenson. More than four million votes stronger, in fact.

The total vote for Democratic candidates for the House was 29,831,608, while Stevenson polled 25,758,765 votes. This, incidentally, was nearly three million behind the Republican vote for the House.

If Michigan is an indication that the tide at the grass roots is still running Democratic, that is not good news for Republicans looking ahead to next year's Congressional elections. For the President will not be at the head of the ticket in those elections.

THE OUTLOOK would seem favorable for the Democrats in next year's elections, especially since seven of the 11 Senate seats at stake are in the South. Republicans have 21 Senate seats at stake, some in doubtful territory.

In Michigan, there is a political pattern that we see repeated elsewhere to some extent, though not as highly developed as in Michigan.

This is the coalition between the Democratic party and labor, symbolized chiefly in the United Automobile Workers Union and Walter Reuther. They make up a team that is hard to beat.

This team was working at high efficiency in Monday's election.

Slum Clearance Program Shows Choices

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — "If you are going to save money," says President Eisenhower, "you have got to look at programs."

All right, take a look at one of the first guinea pigs in the current congressional economy drive. It's the slum clearance program, known in official lingo as Urban Renewal.

It was first authorized in 1949 but didn't really begin to roll till the Eisenhower administration hit town.

So today, the government, by act of Congress, is committed to making 900 million dollars' worth of capital grants to local communities to aid them in urban development. President Eisenhower also has authority to increase this by 100 million dollars, to a round billion, if he deems it necessary.

This is to be an outright giveaway, to cover two-thirds of slum clearance and redevelopment costs. Cities and towns must pay the other third. Uncle Sam gets nothing back.

IT IS ADMITTED this is a nice thing for Uncle Sam to do for the general welfare. The question that arises is: Why isn't it the responsibility of the local communities to clean up their own slums?

One answer given is that cities and towns can't afford to do it alone.

Taxes on real estate are as high as they can go. Local communities have to get help to provide sanitation and good housing, prevent crime and build highways.

Anyway, of the original 900-million-dollar authorization, 865 million have already been obligated. That leaves only 35 million to take care of unexpected cost increases, new planning and new projects in disaster areas.

The 865 million dollars already obligated are for 445 projects in 270 cities and towns. This makes the average grant about two million dollars for a 500-family project.

But they vary in size from a $20,000 job in Douglas, Ga., to the 40-million-dollar redevelopment program for northwest Washington, D. C.

ONLY ABOUT ten per cent of the 865 million obligated has been spent so far. Here are the cash outlays for five years, in millions of dollars:

	Appropriations	Expenditures
1953	8	7
1954	20	11
1955	39	34
1956	50	14
1957	40	22
TOTALS	157	88

The prospects are that both appropriations and expenditures will increase. Only one-third of the projects are far enough along now to receive capital grants.

President Eisenhower's January budget message called for an increased capital grant authorization of 250 million for 1958 and another 250 million for 1959.

It has now been proposed to Congress that this be cut to a single authorization of 175 million dollars ofr 1958. None of this would be spent next year. It is a 1958 bookkeeping economy, to reduce future costs.

The Urban Renewal Administration, now under Acting Commissioner Richard L. Steiner, has enough cash to carry on through next year.

THE CATCH IS that Congress is already committed to appropriate another 643 or 743 million dollars over the next five or ten years to complete the programs it has already authorized. This can't be sucked back or cut back.

The question is whether to stop here, or keep on expanding the program.

According to National Association of Housing and Redevelopment officials, there are now 162 cities in 23 states that are ready to launch new slum-clearance programs. This covers 650 million dollars in grants.

National Planning Assn. has just called for a new 10-year program of metropolitan area development, covering the whole United States. There's no estimate of what this would cost or how it would be paid for.

The whole issue is a striking example of how federal programs, desirable or necessary as they may be, start small and keep on growing.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—The ways of duty often are hard. You sit down and make a list of the new plays opening in New York between now and April 20th and, in the midst of it, the telephone rings.

Johnny Creedy, at Pan American Airways, is calling to invite you on a whirlwind tour of Europe from April 5th to April 20th on the Line's new DC-7C airplane, the itinerary including Lisbon, Barcelona, Madrid, Monte Carlo, Rome, Paris and London.

YOUR VAGUELY mathematical mind swiftly estimates this at about 2 days and 19 hours in each of these cities and there is nothing you would rather do than take a trip of that kind at this time. But, regretfully, you decline. Too many new plays to cover, plus the annual spring meeting on April 6th of the Drama Critics Circle to select the prize play of the season.

In your mind, Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night" is a shoo-in for the serious American play. "The Most Happy Fella" and "Bells Are Ringing" will divide votes for the best musical, and the best foreign play will be a fielder's choice.

You hang up on Johnny and stare out the window for half an hour, sighing with open farce over having to forgo a 15-day tour of Europe in a spanking new airplane.

A LADY telephones you and asks you to come to dinner and she also wants to know if you like cheese blintzes. You assure her that you do and you tell her a story not too many people know —that blintzes were a favored dish in the Asturias area of Northern Spain more than 400 years ago.

They were called quesadillas al fuego—little cheeselings on fire, to be literal— and that if they appealed to her as a table idea, the place to get them in New York was down at Benito Collada's place, El Chico.

Benito was in Spain a few years ago, looking up family records, and in the course of this found an old cook book dating from before the Inquisition. It contained a family recipe for the delicacy and he brought it back to New York. Roughly speaking: quesadillas al fuego should be prepared on a portable side table over flame, like crepes Suzette, with butter melted in a pan, juice of one lemon, juice of one orange, half ounce of creme de cacao, cheese, one ounce of Spanish brandy, blintzes, all topped with sprinklings of sugar and then set afire and served while flaming.

WHICH REMINDS the lady that an old New York newspaperman, now deceased, Jack Miley, once confounded the staff at the Pump Room in Chicago.

The Pump Room is noted for bringing in practically everything it serves, except chocolate ice cream, aflame and skewered on a sword.

Mr. Miley sat down, studied the menu for a long time and then wearily ordered, "Two soft-boiled eggs, please, on fire and on a sword, as usual."

And this in turn reminded you of an Indian with a sense of humor, in a hut on the side of a mountain near Valle de Bravo in Mexico. You stopped at his hut one noontime to get a cup of water and a tortilla or two and he asked you sit aside a moment.

Soon he was out with six tortillas, in a flame of pulque, spitted on a machete, and with a delighter grin on his face.

"Once drove taxi Chercahgo," he said. "Pomp Run style, no?"

THE TELEPHONE rings and another lady calls, she being Miss Mary Orr, the world's most beautiful novelist and playwright, a lady with a brow fit to annoy Helen, eyes like groves of violets and a mind they could whet knives on.

She thanks you for having taken her to Tennessee Williams' new play, "Orpheus Descending," and she agrees with you that all the advance talk about the smutty dialogue in it was so much nothing, but that the people themselves were still a part of Mr. Williams' own little areas of the South: abysmal, lewd, venial and mean.

You tell her that, recently, when your bride was in Nashville, Tenn., she asked a modern young Southern woman why Capote, Faulkner, and Williams insisted on finding only swamp characters.

And this young woman said, "I think they are all creative artists, genuine ones, but they all also have a commercial streak.

"They have discovered that a lot of people will pay money to read or see that kind of stuff. Ergo, no one expects a modern writer to deal in moonlight and magnolias, of course. It would be silly. But the real South still has to be written. Not merely grimy little areas that are profitable to describe."

You hang up, look out the window again and sigh anew for Lisbon, Barcelona, Madrid, Monte Carlo, Rome, Paris and London.

Big Indian But No Scalp Um

JAMESTOWN, Va.—I'd appreciate no cracks from either wets or drys about my putting up $1.50 in cold cash for an empty bottle.

It was a special bottle blown to order in the glass house, which was the first factory established in America, back in 1608. There was nothing here then except Indians, and these were unfriendly. This explains in part why America's factory No. 1 wasn't exactly a success.

THE ORIGINAL glass blowers operated in a large shed with a thatched roof and no sides, because there's nothing hotter than a glass furnace. So they blew bottles and tried to make window panes, but those Indians on the sidelines behind the pine trees kept lobbing in arrows.

This resulted in numerous casualties, plus a tremendous pile of broken glass. A fellow trying to blow a bottle while arrows whiz around his ears necessarily is inclined to be nervous.

So the centuries went by while other bigger factories went up all over the land. The first factory burned down. Floods from the James River covered the furnaces with mud.

NOW THE WHOLE shebang has been rebuilt in connection with the 350th anniversary of the founding of Jamestown. Three members of the American Flint Glass Workers Union are turning out bottles even as their forefathers did, what few Powhatan Indians remaining are inclined to be amused instead of angry, and that's why I bought the first empty bottle of my entire life.

It is a small bottle of a peculiar yellowish green: this shade is caused by the sand shoveled up from the bank of the James, and that brings us to the boss bottle blower, circa 1957.

HIS NAME IS Ernest Tomlinson and he's wearing short pants, long white stockings, a leather apron, and shoes with pewter buckles. He's been a glass blower all his life, but always before in standard pants. When he put on his present costume and started blowing bottles in public for the tourists swarming the Jamestown festival, he felt pretty silly, I can tell you.

Nobody laughted at him, however. The visitors are in a solemn mood, intent on absorbing history on the hoof, and Tomlinson looks exactly as he would have looked in the 17th Century. His white-clad shanks don't bother him any longer.

OPENING of the festival involved considerable oratory by the Ambassador from Great Britain, the Governor of Virginia, and other owners of silver tongues. I had a narrow squeak (on account of being trapped for a time in the middle of the Army band), but I managed to escape hearing any of their historic words. I was busy trying to interview a nearly naked Indian, who had a genuine tomahawk.

I thought I could learn from him the technique of scalping white men. He said he was dadblamed if he knew how it was done, or even where to start.

I MUST MAKE one correction. A dispatch here the other day said that in attempting to do like the Colonists did, I would have a plate of roasted oysters for breakfast. Haw.

At 7 a. m. a light mist was falling, and in the bosky dell selected for the oyster breakfast it was downright cold. I arrived coffeeless and with the spearmint flavor of toothpaste still in my mouth. That's when the man handed me a plate of raw oysters on the half shell.

I ate 'em against my own better judgment. They felt, going down, like flexible icicles. The rest of the breakfast, consisting of venison stew, wild turkey hash, fried hominy and corn bread, came later.

Somehow I didn't feel hungry.

Joyce Cary

A VITAL spirit, the spirit of a man in love with life, passed from the scene with the death of the British novelist, Joyce Cary.

Though his last months were spent in bondage to a creeping paralysis that left him almost immobile, he did not despair, but continued to work and to reflect on man and his relationship with God.

Joyce Cary was a man profoundly concerned with religion, with man's thirst for Deity. This was reflected in the works which had won him a place among the most distinguished literary figures of his time.

Th novels that made Joyce Cary famous—"Herself Surprised," "The Horse's Mouth," "To Be A Pilgrim," and others—are filled with a sense of the joy of life. Yet a man's obligation to man, and to God, also pervades these books.

They are an enduring testament of their author's belief in life that enabled him to bear his final adversity with a smile.

Not long before his death, Joyce Cary told an interviwer: "As for myself, I believe in God. His existence is clear in love, affection and feelings for non-material things. What God would have us do is do right by each other. Human values are His values.

It is the philosophy of a man who lived and died well.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—You've heard a lot about private eyes.

But Ed Haupt probably has America's swiftest public eyes. A sort of prose detective and big name hunter, he is perhaps the nation's fastest reader.

"I can scan up to 20,000 words a minute," admitted Haupt who gallops through the pages of scores of publications daily for the Luce Clipping Bureau.

After 30 years in the business, Haupt, a mild-mannered, slow-talking family man who lives in Yonkers, is the acknowledged kingpin.

Most of the 400 professional newspaper readers who work for the 30 U. S. press clipping services are women.

They regard Haupt with something akin to awe. Few can read at even half his pace.

AS HE READS, Haupt marks any mention of the names of some 8,000 people, products and companies. The list of clients, of course, has daily changes.

"The idea seems general that only vanity leads people to subscribe to a clipping service," he said. "Actually, most of the subscribers are hard-headed business men looking for information."

The clipping service, of course, gets many odd requests. One client subscribed because he wanted a check made to be sure his name wasn't appearing in the newspapers.

"For a time we had a client who wanted all photos of drum majorettes appearing in skirts," Haupt recalled. "We couldn't figure why. It turned out he was a young lad trying to build his own collection of pinup pictures. His mother stopped the service."

The clipping bureau cooperates with the FBI to see that the requests of clients from behind the Iron Curtain are checked for security clearance.

HAUPT CAN GET through the equivalent of a dozen or more long-winded novels in a single day.

He looks for key words, names or phrases, underlining them as he goes. The stories are clipped later by other workers.

The biggest occupation dangers for professional readers such as Haupt are daydreaming and getting too interested in a subject.

"You can't let that happen," he said. "But no matter how fast I skip over the pages, some of the information sticks in my mind. You get so you know a little bit about practically everything."

His terrific reading has had no bad effect on his eyes. He still wears the same lenses in his glasses he did 10 years ago.

His hobby?

"I like to read the newspaper going home from work," Haupt said. "But leisurely."

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—After rocketing through 25-mile speed zones at 70 miles an hour on his way to the rustic reaches of Gettysburg, President Eisenhower slowed down to the legal speed limit on his return trip to urban Washington. This enabled many of us here to relax, because we try to keep up with the Administration.

The President's example allowed us a change of pace, without losing face. It came as an especial relief to me, because I have hot-rodded through three Administrations, trying not to let the White House get ahead of me.

The new slowpoke mania affected even the reception for the Nixons. Lady Bird Johnson, wife of the Senate Democratic leader, who holds the record of having flown through a Republican reception in 11 seconds flat, was half an hour before she got within neck crane of the GOP honorees.

EVERYONE had to queue up and do it the long way, regardless of rank, sex, age, weight, or whether they were craving to get through the reception and belt into a cup of tea.

Mrs. Dorothy Williams, one of our more impeluous newspaperwomen, wanted to know what Mrs. Nixon was wearing before it wore out from age. But she was told she'd have to take her place in the queue if she wanted to get upstairs.

Mrs. Williams spied Mrs. Thomas E. Martin, wife of the GOP Senator from Iowa, high up the stairway and beseeched her, in a voice that would have shaken the cherry blossoms three miles away, if there had been any to shake, to take notes on everything that Pat Nixon was wearing, and report back as soon as able.

Twenty minutes later, the senator's missus came down the stairs, shining with triumph. Mrs. Williams and all other fashion-minded ladies of the press clustered 'round, their pencils poised.

"I have it!" cried Mrs. Martin. "And it is authentic and official! I said to Pat Nixon: 'This is for the press, so describe exactly what you have on!' She did so. You know how obliging Pat is?"

"Yes — yes!" panted the newspaper ladies. "What is she wearing?"

"A blue dress, with pleats," replied the senator's wife, with definitive finality.

WHILE WAITING in line, Mrs. Arthur Summerfield confided that she gave her Postmaster General husband a wifely harpooning the other day. When he came home from work, she remarked casually: "I saw something that I like today, but I don't think I'll buy it."

"Oh, go on and buy it!" waved the P.M.G. magniloquently.

"I don't really feel I should," demurred his lady. "It's rather expensive."

"Hang the expense!" cried the big-hearted cabineteer. "You've earned it. By the way, what was it?"

"The Hope diamond!" shrieked Mrs. Summerfield.

I WAS CAREFUL not to jaywalk, but I bumped into former Rep. T. James Tumulty, of New Jersey. It's difficult not to, in a crowded room. He weighs 400 pounds.

I asked the Jersey City Democrat if he regretted his defeat last November. He unloosed a mock sigh that swayed the chandelier and replied:

"Not for myself. I brought Ike along as far as I could, but now he's on his own."

I told the irrepressible gentleman it was too bad he was beaten.

"Yes," he agreed. "A man can't get a dishonest count any more. I told you what would happen if they put in voting machines!"

Mary Haworth's Mail

EDITOR'S NOTE: Silent as the sphinx, executive creates depressing home atmosphere.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: What will be the outcome for a couple, married 22 years, parents of two teen-agers, who never talk to one another, other than essential words?

John never has been even an average talker. A year ago I decided I would stop trying to make conversation and thus force him out of his shell. To my dismay he didn't even seem to notice the change; and now I am completely miserable, and in the habit of never starting a conversation myself.

All our friendships have been started through my efforts; but now I don't care whether we have friends or not. I devote most of my time to church, Parent-Teacher and Scouts work, none of which ever has interested John in the least. He is a busy executive nowadays, but wasn't always so.

I don't think he ever has tried to understand his wife or children. His attitude is completely negative; at least that is the feeling I get, though he would say I am one hundred per cent wrong. But would our children always come to me for everything if this weren't the case?

I resent John for what he has done to me, and I resent myself for letting him—A. R.

Man's In Grip Of Deep Malice

DEAR A. R.: John shows signs of a dual personality if he has the verbal skill to make the grade to executive status in the business world, while remaining self-contained as a stone at home.

Presumably he is able and willing to communicate proficiently on the surface and material level, in the market place; but recoils from the self-exchange that affords the substance of hearty family life.

His possum reaction to your experiment in trying to force him out of his shell, suggests that there is a lot of unconscious, deeply inhibited ill will—or malice towards some—implicit in his personality. At least, in that part of his emotional make-up that deals with matehood and parenthood.

I should guess that he is a very grudging self-giver, who profoundly resents having to admit anyone to "privacy of life" with him; and that he unconsciously appraises all aspects of his investment in marriage as ignominious surrender to hateful necessity in himself. Meaning sex hunger, love hunger and such—for which he has no sympathy, I gather.

Non-Neurtoic Can't Bear This

As I get the pitch, you lapsed into silence to teach him a lesson, supposedly, after he'd been markedly stony. And he got the point and stubbornly took you up on it, so that a knowing "war of nerves" ensued. That's why you are angry at yourself and especially depressed at going out on a limb, making a bad matter worse.

It is to be expected that you would feel ill, emotionally, as a result of such deling, long continued. Indeed, such estrangement is a form of sickness in relationship, and a normally sensitive person couldn't bear it indefinitely. Only a severely neurotic individual could tolerate or get a kick out of it; and maybe your husband fits in this category.

Takes Two To Heal A Rift

Now for advice: Some might say, for health's sake try to get back on the former footing wth John, unsatisfactory though it was—compared to the norm. But it takes two to make a reconciliation and, unless John meets you halfway, contritely, there's no use humbling yourself to him.

All things considered, I think you need psychiatric guidance and support, in organizing your forces for getting clear of the heavy undertow of bad feeling that is dragging you down. Good psychiatric help is available in the town through which you write.—M. H.

Big Damage Suit Moved

Papers in a $100,000 damage suit removed here from Washington County Circuit Court were filed yesterday at the Court House.

Angela R. Scardina and George Robert Scardina, her husband, of 5332 Waseman Avenue, Anne Arundel County, brought the suit last April 18 against Robert L. Smith of Rohrersville in Washington County.

The Scardinas contend they were both seriously injured when their eastbound car on U. S. Route 40 was involved in a collision with Smith's westbound car near the intersection with U. S. Route 40A near Frederick. The accident occurred March 25, 1956.

Also docketed yesterday was a $500 damage suit and its compromise settlement for $333.75. Shelva Jean Iliff, an infant, by Gladys M. Iliff and Paul Iliff, her parents and next friends, 619 Maryland Avenue, brought suit against John Robert Miller, 642 North Mechanic Street.

Judge Rules On Assets Of Estate

Equity Suit Filed By Executor For Proper Disposal

Chief Judge George Henderson yesterday filed an opinion in Allegany County Circuit Court which placed the value of the estate of Mrs. Lillian M. King, who died January 4, 1956, at $9,989.29, and not $40,928.05 as shown by her executor's account.

This equity suit involves the proper distribution of a life estate upon the death of the widow to whom her husband had given a life estate only in his property. The plaintiffs, Bertha Berryman, et al, are those persons to whom the husband, Francis William King, had left his estate upon the death of his wife. The defendant, William B. Robb Jr., is the executor under the will of the wife, Lillian M. King.

Robb admits that certain assets in his hands are distributable under the will of the husband, but alleges that the greater part of the assets belonged to the wife personally at her death rather than to her as a life tenant only.

Francis William King died February 9, 1934. Mrs. King was made life tenant of assets with a total value of $68,633.26.

Judge Henderson then states that her executor's account shows that she held as life tenant two savings accounts of $13,708.15 and certain securities valued at $24,511.58, making a total of $38,319.74 which the executor admits is distributable under the husband's will.

There were in the name of Lillian M. King individually checking and savings accounts totaling $24,592.55 and securities valued at $16,335.50, making a combined total of $40,928.05. At Mrs. King's death the total of the two estates was $79,247.79.

Judge Henderson writes that it is apparent there was a mingling of the life estate with her own personal estate by Mrs. King which apparently was the result of her lack of business experience. She was not living extravagantly or spending money recklessly.

In determining what portion of the estate belonged to Mrs. King personally, Judge Henderson starts with a total of $6,059.66 which Mrs King had in savings account on August 21, 1934, "which certainly was hers." With interest up to the time of her death this account increased in value to $7,940.29. To this amount the judge adds $2,049 resulting from liquidation of certain stocks.

Second Polio Shots Set Monday In Schools

The Allegany County Health Department has completed the first half of a comprehensive vaccination program designed to protect school children of this county from polio.

Over 12,000 shots of Salk vaccine were given to students of the public and parochial schools during school clinics held March 13 through Wednesday.

Students of the first four grades, who had received first and second shots during previous school clinics, were offered booster shots, and first or second shots were given to all other students.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, said about 65 per cent of the students enrolled in the schools took advantage of the shots. Most of the others had been given protection by their family physician.

The immunization program moved smoothly, in spite of its size.

The biggest day was March 22, when students at Luke and Virginia Avenue elementary schools and Fort Hill High School received shots. At Fort Hill, 1,434 injections were given in three hours.

Second injections are slated to begin Monday at 9 a.m. in St. Peter's School, Westernport, and are scheduled to end May 8 at St. Mary's School here.

Dr. Frantz said supplies are on hand here for about 5,000 shots and that efforts will be made to secure additional supplies.

Although the current program has taxed the facilities of the Allegany County Health Department, it could set the stage for a permanent polio immunization program in the schools.

McKeldin Denies Election Gift From Dave Beck

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland has said he doesn't know Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union.

Furthermore, said McKeldin, he knows "of no contribution by Beck, none at all" to his campaign fund.

A national news magazine has said that the Republican governor's campaign fund for re-election in 1954 received $5,000 from the union leader.

Beck's handling of union funds has been under investigation by a Senate subcommittee on labor racketeering.

Final Tractor Club Meeting Next Monday

The final 4-H Club tractor maintenance meeting of the season will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. at Heiskell Garage in Frostburg.

A dinner will be held April 25 in honor of the boys completing the course. Guy Glenger, agriculture engineer at the University of Maryland, will be the speaker.

Appeal Court Gets Plea To Upset Death Sentence

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals has been asked to upset the death sentence and order a new trial for a 26-year-old Baltimore Negro convicted of raping a 45-year-old white woman.

Cornelius M. Farrell was convicted in Baltimore Criminal Court June 22, 1956 and on Sept. 21 he was sentenced to be executed in the gas chamber by judge Joseph L. Carter.

Judge Carter had directed Farrell's attorney to appeal the conviction and sentence. The court-appointed lawyer contended yesterday the order of the jurist had denied him the right to be heard on a motion for a new trial.

He also said the lower court judge erred in refusing to permit him to see a medical report on Farrell until after the sentencing. Judge Carter had ordered a mental examination after Farrell testified he had twice been a patient at Crownsville State Mental Hospital.

The high court also took under advisement an appeal by Stephen I. Fellner, who has been permanently disbarred from the practice of law by the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City.

The Bar Association of Baltimore City sought the disbarment after Fellner was fined $250 on a charge of inserting slugs in a parking meter.

Fellner did not contest the charge, but he said that did not establish his guilt. He also contended the offense charged was a "minor vice of a purely personal character" and not one which bears upon his "moral fitness to continue in the practice of law."

State Forest Money Alloted

A total of $5,200.90 is being distributed in the four Western Maryland counties by the State Department of Forests and Parks. The money represents 15 per cent of the receipts from facilities of the state.

Garrett County will get the lion's share of that total, $4,037.66, which represents 15 per cent of the receipts from Savage River, Swallow Falls and Potomac State Forests and Deep Creek Lake State Park during the six months between July 1, and December 31, 1956.

About half of the receipts came from rental of camping facilities and the other half from timber cut off the state forests.

Allegany County will receive a check for $609.87, which is 15 per cent of the six-month receipts from Green Ridge State Forest and the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area. All this was from timber cuttings.

The other checks are $335.59 for Frederick County, from Gambrills, Gathland and Cunningham Falls State Parks and $167.78 for Washington County from Fort Frederick and Washington Monument State Parks.

Juvenile Judge Cites State For Delinquent Work

BALTIMORE (AP) — Organization of a State Bureau of Child Welfare four years ago has been heralded by a juvenile judge as a major accomplishment in juvenile delinquency control in Maryland.

Judge Alfred D. Noys of Montgomery County, told a probation officers conference yesterday that the bureau has helped strengthen and improve treatment at State training schools and has taken part in the physical improvement of schools.

This is one of the examples of progress that has been made in recent years at the local, state and national levels in the broad field of juvenile delinquency control, he said.

About 90 Maryland probation officers are attending the conference which continued today. It is sponsored by the National Probation and Parole Assn. and the State Department of Public Welfare.

Grand Jury Urges Work At State Girls School

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore County grand jury has called for immediate action to improve housing and medical facilities at the Barrett School for Girls.

The retiring jury also urged creation of forestry camps as a means of meeting overcrowded conditions in corrective institutions for boys.

A committee of the grand jury which had visited the Barrett School reported that housing facilities there were ugly and bleak, and strongly criticized the "glaring lack of hospital facilities at the school."

The grand jury also suggested that the Maryland Training School for Boys study staff recruiting practices at the both the Montrose School for Girls and Boys' Village and "institute such steps as will be provide for securing and retaining the staff."

Circuit Judge John E. Raine Jr., who received the report, said this was the first time in a decade a committee had visited all the State correctional and training institutions.

In its final report, the grand jury recommended that the educational program in each institution be administered by the county school system.

As an alternative, the jurors recommended that any general salary increase for State teachers be automatically extended to teachers in the State correctional and training institutions.

Unless this is done, the report concluded, "the institutions can not hope to attract competent teachers."

Grading Work Starts On Development Road

Grading and stone surfacing of the access road as well as roads within the development is expected to be completed within 30 days, weather permitting.

Founder Of Big Cafeteria Chain Dies In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—Henry Irving Dunnock, who left Dorchester County to organize the Oriole Cafeteria chain in Baltimore, died yesterday at Seton Institute. He was 69.

Dunnock was born in Dorchester County and was a grub rustler in a saw mill camp by the time he was 15.

He established his first restaurant here in 1909, a small three-stool short order counter. Business prospered and in 1927 he founded Oriole Cafeterias, Inc., a chain of three cafeterias in Baltimore.

Since 1945, when his health began to fail, the organization has been managed by his son, Henry Reginald Dunnock.

Dunnock was a former national president of the National Restaurant Assn. and a former director of the National Assn. of Restaurants.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Della Henry Dunnock; his son, two daughters, Mrs. Henry J. Sloane and Mrs. Fred H. Cook; two sisters, Mrs. Sadie Hall and Miss Jennie Dunnock, of Cambridge; a brother, Thomas Dunnock of Dorchester County; and five grandchildren.

Carpenters Join Strike In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners have voted to join a strike against the Associated General Contractors, but not immediately.

Seven of the Baltimore area's 11 trade unions left their jobs Monday causing a work stoppage at city, county and federal construction projects.

The carpenters, one of the four unions not striking, voted Wednesday to join the walkout unless their wage demands are met.

However, President C. Edward Niner said that under union rules the strike would not begin for 30 to 60 days.

"The only issue is a raise," he said. "We're still looking for an offer of merit. We don't want a strike."

The AGC invited the carpenters, the Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union and the Cement Masons Union to renew negotiations today. Wages are the principal issue with all the unions.

Management said the unions are asking a 35-to-55 cent hourly increase while the unions say the increase would only amount to 15-to-25 cents.

Attends School

Roy L. Durrett, 509 Bedford Street, an employe of Spoerl's Garage, for 22 years, is in Flint, Mich., where he is registered at General Motors Institute for a two-weeks service managers course. His son, Bruce Durrett, is a second year student at the institute.

Area College Study Set

A study to determine the desirability of planning public education beyond the high school level in Allegany County will be started soon by the State Department of Education.

This study will be undertaken in compliance with House Resolution 22 and Senate Resolution 18, identical bills which were introduced simultaneously in the two branches of the General Assembly February 1 and were approved during the 90-session which ended only Monday.

Results of this study are to be made known to Senator Charles M. See and the members of the County Delegation on or before July 1, 1957.

Copies of the identical resolutions have been sent to Dr. D. W. Zimmerman, assistant state superintendent of schools in finance and research, who is expected to begin the necessary study soon.

A local campaign designed to focus public attention on the need for a four-year liberal arts college in the Cumberland area was started last fall by the Western Maryland Section of the American Chemical Society.

Yesterday Dr. Gordon Sutherland, a member of the Western Maryland Section, continued the campaign in an address to the Cumberland Kiwanis Club. Dr. Sutherland, who is a research chemist at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, said a four-year college here would increase the cultural level of the community, would encourage more young people of the area to pursue a college education and would provide certain economic advantages, including the encouragement of new industry to locate here.

Dr. Sutherland said only 18 per cent of the high school graduates in Allegany County go on to college, compared with a state and national average of 32 per cent.

The resolutions adopted in Annapolis resolve that the State Board of Education, through its professional staff of the State Board of Education, cause a study to be made of the desirability for planning education beyond high school for Allegany County youths so that they may be prepared to meet the employment requirements of new industries and, be prepared for careers which will enable them to make their contribution to industry, as well as to the social and economic welfare of Allegany County communities.

Dollar for dollar and man for man, the submarine is this country's most economical weapon. Comprising only 1.6 per cent of the Navy's World War II personnel, the submarine service accounted for 55 per cent of all enemy shipping destroyed.

RESCUED FROM SAFE—David Rude, 15, left, Cheri Stevenson, 11, and William Moore, 16, are all smiles after they were released from a 10 x 7 walk-in safe in San Francisco last night. Agreement Near On New Bus Terminal At Annapolis Site

BALTIMORE (AP) — With only six days of grace remaining for the ancient Annapolis bus terminal, a tentative plan has been reached for construction of a new one.

A 30-day extension granted the Baltimore and Annapolis Railroad Company in the deadline for tearing down its old terminal expires Wednesday.

The bus firm sold its terminal last year to the State for $300,000 to make room for a new State office building. Since then, the company and city officials have been unable to agree on a new terminal site.

Yesterday, however, tentative agreement was reached for construction of a new terminal on State-owned property near the St. John's College campus.

The plan calls for:

1. The city to lease one acre of ground from the State under a 20-year agreement, paying the State $75 monthly.

2. The city to lease the site to the B&A, Eastern Greyhound Bus Lines and the Carolina Coach Company for their bus operations at monthly rentals of $75, $100 and $25 respectively.

3. The B&A to build a one-story terminal on the site, paying all construction costs.

Bruce P. Wilson, B&A president, said the agreement will be presented for approval of the State Board of Public Works next Monday and later in the day to the aldermen of Annapolis.

Hippocrates, father of modern medicine, was born in 460 B. C.

Award Contract For New State Office Building

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Washington construction firm building a State office building in Baltimore also has been awarded the contract to erect a new State office building in Annapolis.

The Blake Construction Co. was awarded a $2,548,000 contract for the Annapolis project yesterday. Eleven bids were received, with John McShain Inc. of Baltimore bidding only $200 higher than the Blake firm.

Blake previously had been awarded the $9,754,885 contract for the office building here.

The Department of Public Improvements said ground-breaking ceremonies would be held in Annapolis April 15 for the four-story Colonial type structure which is scheduled for completion in late 1958.

The red brick building will house 10 State agencies, most of them moving from quarters two blocks south of the new location.

Also awarded yesterday was a $318,892 contract for a new heating plant. It went to the Charles T. King Co. of Baltimore.

The Annapolis project is scheduled to have facilities for 90 cars in the rear of the building and 300 more across the street.

Youth Group Plans Anniversary Dinner

The Tri-State Youth for Christ will hold a dinner Tuesday at 7 p. m. in the cafeteria of Londonderry School, Hyndman, Pa., in observance of the ninth anniversary of the organization. Deadline for reservations will be the rally here tomorrow night, according to Dwight I. Evans, director.

The anniversary program will feature Rev. J. Leslie Black, New York, a member of the High School Evangelism Fellowship and an amateur magician.

Celanese Pact Talks To Resume

Contract talks will resume Monday at 10 a. m. between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union and the Celanese Corporation of America.

A company offer was rejected by the union membership this week. The present agreement expires Monday at midnight, according to John G. Thomas, union president.

Major points in disagreement Thomas said, are a wage offer and a contract issue. He said the company's offer was on a graduated scale while the union, with the exception of the Engineering Department, wants a flat pay increase.

Wesley Cook, TWUA synthetic yarn director, will attend Monday's session, the union said.

Henderson Resigns Job On Rec Board

Others May Also Quit, According To Reports In City

One member of the City Recreation Board has resigned and others may follow suit, the Cumberland Evening Times learned today.

The letter of resignation from Chief Judge George Henderson has been received at City Hall and will be read at the Mayor and Council's meeting Monday morning.

Judge Henderson's resignation follows that of the recreation director.

Leaves April 22

Gwynn F. Fletcher, the director, submitted his letter to the Council after a stormy session of the Mayor and commissioners with the recreation board on Tuesday, March 25.

His job will be vacant on April 22. He came here October 1.

The contents of Judge Henderson's letter were not divulged, and he would make no comment before the council could read it.

Fletcher's reason for quitting was "because of difficult working conditions," according to James L. Weber, board chairman.

The March 25 meeting that produced the two resignations was over the board's proposal to consolidate the recreation and park departments and a wage increase for a recreation department staff member.

Paye Unhappy

Albert S. Paye, who has been on the recreation board since 1950, said today that he hasn't definitely made up his mind.

"I am very unhappy with the situation as we have met with constant frustrations," he added.

Arch M. Hutcheson, another member, said he had not made up his mind about resigning.

Mrs. Florence Yankelevitz, whose term expires in 1960, said she is waiting for the recreation board meeting Tuesday.

She added that she is considering resigning but feels the board should stay in office until Fletcher leaves.

One Post Open

It was learned today, but could not be confirmed, that the resignation of Lacy Cifala, whose term expires next month, is being prepared by his attorney.

The chairman of the board was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

The seventh member of the board, G. Monroe Sharer, died recently and the vacancy has not been filled.

The park-recreation department consolidation plus the council's refusal to go along with the board's Southview Addition plan are reported to be the two issues that have precipitated the action.

County Board Planning Use Of New Room

Auxiliary Court Quarters Will Be Remodeled For Unit

The meetings of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners will be held in the auxiliary court room at the Court House in the near future.

By a 2 to 1 vote today the board decided to do the needed remodeling of the auxiliary court room and install a new lighting system to make the room suitable for the sessions. Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson voted against the plan stating that it was "not feasible."

The present meeting room on the first floor of the Court House will be used by the finance department of the county and the two rooms across the hall will be used by the assessing department. Commissioner William H. Lemmert said the assessing department will install a new card system and that extra space is needed as a result.

A plan to transfer the assessing department to the basement and the Election Board to the Union Street County building has been dropped. Commissioner Lemmert said the cost of that program would have been about $20,000 while the method decided on today will cost only about $2,500.

The action followed receipt of a letter from Chief Judge George Henderson on the commissioner's plan.

The jurist said he recalled how the county board cooperated with the judges in refurnishing and redecorating the main court room and "we should certainly show our appreciation by cooperating to save the taxpayers expense by using the auxiliary court room."

Judge Henderson said the only conflict he can see is when the grand jury is in session. For about 60 years grand juries have been using a smaller room on the second floor but in recent years have used the auxiliary court room. Judge Henderson said he understands the county board will not object to using the smaller room, opposite the main court room, during the six days the juries are in session.

Fund Granted Use Of Room

The County United Fund was granted permission by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners today to use the Health Room in the Union Street County building as headquarters for the campaign September 2 through October 31.

The action was taken on the request of Edmund S. Burke, president of the United Fund. The room has been used as campaign headquarters in recent years for the Cumberland Community Chest.

Burke also asked the board to endorse the United Fund program. He said the executive board wanted the endorsement. The commissioners voted to issue the support asked.

In his letter, Burke outlined how the United Fund would provide one big charity drive each year. This would not only combine the various fund drives into a more efficient program but would also eliminate much time devoted to many separate drives by volunteer workers.

Potomac Flow Below Average

The flow of the Potomac River during March was below average, according to Ewell H. Mohler Jr., engineer in charge of the local Geological Survey office of the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Mohler said the observed mean daily flow of the river (at the Wiley Ford gage) during the month was 1,641 cubic feet per second, or 1,061 million gallons per day. This is 59.8 per cent of the 27-year March average.

The daily flow varied between 554 million gallons on March 26 and 1,661 million gallons on March 13.

A seasonal increase in storage in Savage River Dam caused an average decrease of 36.2 million gallons, or 3.4 per cent of the flow in the river at Cumberland.

Total precipitation at Cumberland, as reported by the Weather Bureau, was 2.28 inches, .72 inch below the March average. The average daily temperature was 41.8 degrees, which was 1.1 degrees above normal. A total of 5.6 inches of snow was recorded during March.

Sacred Heart Had Record Patient List In Past Year

This is the fourth of a series of articles dealing with the founding and operation of Sacred Heart Hospital. It has been announced that the Sisters of Charity will discontinue their operation in March 1960.

By WILLIAM E. KELLY
Evening Times Staff Writer

The necessary and important services performed by Sacred Heart Hospital, currently observing the fifty-second anniversary of its founding, is clearly presented in the institution's record of admissions.

The institution, organized as a private hospital in 1905 by the late Dr. E. B. Claybrook, handled a record number of 13,000 area residents during 1956.

During its first year of operation the hospital cared for only 243 patients.

Both the out and in-patients increased rapidly during the 52-year span of the hospital, but the greatest increase was during the five-year period from 1951 through 1956.

The year 1951 found, 4,789 persons being admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital, and 8,162 other cases being handled as "out-patients."

In 1952 there were 4,704 admitted and 8,062 out-patients; in 1953 there were 4,827 in-patients and 7,630 out-patients; and in 1954 there were 4,796 in-patients and 7,734 out-patients.

The admission figure took a sharp jump in 1955 with a total of 12,750 persons receiving treatment at the institution.

During 1955 a total of 5,016 persons were admitted, and 7,734 others received treatment for minor illnesses and injuries.

Sacred Heart set an all-time record for patients last year with a total of 13,110 entering the hospital. Of this figure, 4,801 were classified as in-patients and 8,309 others were listed as out-patients. The final addition to the Records at the hospital show 28,924 admissions from 1951 through 1956, and 47,225 others being treated during this five-year period.

The hospital was opened as a private institution with accommodations for only 20 patients, but two years later, in 1907, an addition was added to provide beds for 15 more people at an expenditure of $5,500.

Later in 1912 the hospital's south wing was constructed, making room for 50 more patients. The final addition to the institution was built in 1936, which provided accommodations for another 50 patients, jumping the bed capacity to 135.

Bill Paying Delayed By Pocket Veto

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson used a "pocket veto" to hold up payment for a used compressor recently acquired by the Allegany County Roads Department.

J. Walker Chapman, roads supervisor, inquired of the county board today why the Hazelwood Company, local contracting firm, had not been paid for the compressor. Chapman said he had submitted a purchase order in February for the equipment.

At this point Commissioner Wilkinson reached into his pocket and exhibited the purchase order. "I'm holding up payment on the order until I know more about it," Wilkinson stated. Chapman said the Hazelwood firm had received their copy of the purchase order and that he had submitted the order in February when all three commissioners were present.

Commissioner James Orr inquired of Wilkinson: "By what right did you withhold the purchase order?" Wilkinson said he wanted to be satisfied about the payment and would hold it up until he found out.

The other two commissioners then instructed Chapman to submit a duplicate purchase order so that the bill could be paid. The equipment cost $950.

A company proposal was rejected by the union membership at meetings Wednesday and Thursday.

New Garbage Plan Needed In Mt. Savage

Dump Being Used To Be Closed Off, Health Officer Says

The community of Mt. Savage will have to arrange to have garbage and trash collected and dumped on an approved site after April 15, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer.

Dr. Frantz wrote the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that a dump along the road between the community and Zihlman will be fenced off and "No Dumping" signs placed. Enforcement of the no dumping ban will be started after the April 15 deadline.

On two occasions the State Roads Commission has had crews use a bulldozer to push the trash over the edge of the dump in an attempt to induce residents of that area to deposit their trash so that it would not be visible from the road, Dr. Frantz stated.

"The people who use the dump do not care how they dispose of their trash," he added. Dr. Frantz said the Mt. Savage Refractories, owners of the land, have notified the county that the dump will no longer be allowed. The dump has become an "eyesore," Dr. Frantz said.

Much of the accumulated trash blew over the adjacent highway because of the indiscriminate manner it had been dumped, according to Dr. Frantz.

The commissioners also received a letter from George Connors, a sixth grade pupil at the Ellerslie School, thanking the board for allowing a road leading to the school to be used as a temporary playground during certain hours.

The pupil said the regular playground is not blacktopped and during wet weather is very muddy.

Knights Of Columbus Director Coming Here

Lennox will be a guest of Cumberland Council 586 at a dinner following a third degree initiation in SS. Peter and Paul parish hall.

The emplification of the degree will begin at 1 p. m. in the Knights of Columbus Hall. The dinner will follow in SS. Peter and Paul's hall.

A native of Philadelphia, Lennox was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and received his honorary doctor of law degree from St. Vincent's College at Latrobe, Pa.

He joined the Knights of Columbus in 1924 and received his Fourth Degree in 1926 in Archbishop Ryan Assembly at Philadelphia.

A past grand knight of San Domingo Council of Philadelphia, Lennox is a past president of the Philadelphia KC Chapter, and served as secretary of the Pennsylvania State Council and was state deputy of Pennsylvania from 1943 until 1946.

will climax a series of first and second degrees conducted during the past two months.

The candidates for the third degree will represent councils from Cumberland, Mt. Savage, Frostburg, Oakland, Piedmont and Hagerstown. Approximately 75 candidates are expected, Carroll said.

Carroll also stated that the dinner following the initiation ceremony will be open to members and the candidates.

Definite Plan For Proposed Tour Due Soon

If Interest Continues To Grow In Event Paper May Sponsor

Considerable response has been received for a package summer tour of six European countries announced in the "Across The Desk" of the Cumberland Sunday Times of March 17.

And if interest continues to be expressed as strongly as it has been in less than three weeks, the Times-News will sponsor the tour to cost less than $1,000, and announce definite details of the journey around April 15.

The Times-News would make all arrangements for the group to be comprised of Cumberland area tourists.

The tentative time for departure by TWA plane from New York is the week of August 25 and return to New York from Rome in mid-September.

Except for one dinner each in London, Paris and Rome, those making this tour under the direction of J. William Hunt would have all other expenses taken care of by one payment — transportation by plane, train, boat and bus, hotel rooms and meals, baggage transfers, sightseeing expenses and even tips.

Ireland, Scotland, England, France, Switzerland and Italy will be visited during the three weeks overseas and there will be no worries about foreign money, language barriers and how to get places.

The Lakes of Killarney, and some of the Scottish lochs; Dublin, Edinburgh, London and the beautiful countryside of the British Isles; Paris, Versailles, The Riviera; picturesque Switzerland and the "glory that is Rome" are merely high spots in a fabulous Old World tour by a congenial group of Cumberland area travelers who will see more and get more by reason of the careful advance planning by Times-News representatives.

Inquiries concerning this tour will be answered when addressed to European Tour, care of Times-News, Cumberland, Md., before April 21.

Bus Strike Pact Reached

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Federal Mediator George Woomer said tonight a tentative contract agreement has been reached between the struck Somerset Bus Co. and Local 218, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The mediator said a memorandum of agreement is being prepared and probably would be signed Saturday morning. He said the company is expected to resume service shortly thereafter.

The strike, now in its 108th day, began Dec. 19 when bus drivers and maintenance men walked off the job to back up demands for a wage increase.

Woomer said he was not free to announce terms of the tentative agreement. Union and management officials were not available for comment. Pre-strike wage scales were not disclosed.

The company was purchased by Perry DeBolt, a Homestead trucking and bus operator, shortly before the strike. It has routes from Somerset to Pittsburgh, Johnstown and Cumberland, Md.

Police Press Search For Robber Trio

Mt. Savage Couple Beaten, Robbed By Armed Hoodlums

County authorities at noon today were still pressing their search for three armed bandits who beat and gagged an elderly Mt. Savage couple before robbing them of $315.

A 15-state general alarm was placed for the gunmen shortly after they left the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl E. Ewald, 75-year-old retired railroader, and his 70-year-old wife, Mrs. Agnes G. Ewald, on Mt. Savage's Water Street.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the LaVale barracks of the State Police, and Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, said the armed robbery was made by three young men who were described as being between 20 and 30 years of age. They made their escape in a dark-colored sedan, the investigators stated.

The following account of the robbery was given:

The three men walked onto the front porch of the Ewald home yesterday about 2 p. m. One of them knocked on the front door after unlatching the locked screen door by poking a screwdriver through the screening.

Knocked To Floor

As Mrs. Ewald opened the door, the three men rushed into the house. She managed to run through a hallway toward the kitchen door in an attempt to call for help, but was grabbed by one of the bandits and knocked to the kitchen floor.

Her husband, who was in a nearby room, heard the commotion and hurried to the kitchen. Immediately the men grabbed him and demanded his money.

One of the bandits struck his wife on the face and head and Ewald was pushed into a chair. Both were bound with cloth and adhesive tape which the three men had brought with them.

During the scuffle the lines of a telephone in a downstairs den and an upstairs room were cut by one of the bandits.

One of the men demanded the combination to a wall safe in an upstairs rear room and jotted down the information Ewald gave him. It was the wrong combination.

Threatened To Kill

One went upstairs to try the combination but failed to open the safe. He returned downstairs and threatened to kill his wife if Ewald didn't give the correct combination.

They poked guns, a kitchen butcher knife and a "small spear" against Ewald's chest and demanded his money. He decided to open the safe and turn over the contents—about $300 in currency.

Later, the robbers again tied him up in a chair, binding his legs and wrists. They also took about $15 in a change purse from a bowl in the dining room before leaving the house.

Mrs. Ewald, although still tied in the chair, was able to work her way toward the kitchen and back porch and down a few steps to the backyard where she got the attention of a neighbor, Nina Malloy, who lives to the rear of the Ewald home.

Three youngsters were called and released the couple. Maryland State Police received a call about 3:15 p.m. and Sgt. Baker was assigned to the case.

Baker pointed out the robbery was on the order of a "big town" job, and all three men were armed with revolvers. He was able to get only vague descriptions of the three men and of their late-model car.

Mrs. Ewald suffered an injury to her head and also to her wrists, bound with adhesive tape. Her husband also sustained wrist injuries. A retired railroader, he has been in ill health for some time.

The event is sponsored by the Martinsburg Booster Club and Chamber of Commerce. Each of the students will be the guest of Martinsburg residents overnight. The music festival is not a competitive program but the units are rated on their ability.

The event will be judged by the head of the instrumental music department of West Virginia University.

Defense Case Underway In Land Dispute

Judge Rules For Government On Type Of Evidence

The judge hearing the Ridgeley High School land condemnation case in Martinsburg last night overruled a defense move to eliminate all evidence pertaining to benefits of the flood protection project to the property in question.

Judge Herbert S .Boreman is presiding at the condemnation case filed by the government against the Mineral County Board of Education and Mrs. Grace E. Vandegrift, and the unknown heirs of the estate of Harry Sowders, Francis Haley, and Levi W. Brant.

Benefits Cited

Yesterday, two government witnesses, James A. Perrin, local realtor, and Ralph Thomas, an engineer for the General Services Administration testified that the flood protection benefits should be considered.

Thomas listed them at $9,600 in the Ridgeley High property case while Perrin figured $8,000.

This morning's session was devoted to the defense attorneys, Clarence E. Martin Jr., of Martinsburg and Donald Holt of Keyser, attempting to establish the superintendent of Berkeley County schools as an expert witness.

Government Upheld

The government objected and was sustained every time the defense attempted to have James L. Cresay testify as to value of the land in question.

The jury was excused and defense counsel and the government counsel, Albert M. Morgan, of Morgantown, U. S. District attorney for Northern West Virginia, retired to the judge's chambers for a conference.

The jury was recalled and at noon Cresay was still on the stand. He testified that he was in Ridgeley for a few hours this week looking at the land in question.

The land concerned is that used for levees for the Ridgeley side of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project.

SRC Controls Location Of Stop Signs

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners was informed today that the State Roads Commission has jurisdiction in the erection of "stop" signs at the intersection of state and county roads.

George B. Hale, maintenance engineer for the SRC, wrote J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, concerning the "stop" sign matter.

The county board was requested by Paul Poorbaugh and Earl Clites to make repairs on the Poorbaugh Road in the Corriganville section.

Chapman also said the State Police have expressed willingness to enforce a parking ban on a section of Oaklanw Avenue in LaVale when the county has a double white line painted at the intersection with U.S. Route 40. Parking of cars at the intersection has caused a number of complaints to the board.

MODERN FOOD PLAN
*Mrs. Henry Adams

I have seven in my family, and considering gasoline and trouble running to the market, I would say I save on the average of $20.00 per week. I have had my freezer four months. Within that time I have ordered twice. One order was for $16.00 and my order last week, which will do me for a month and a half, was $28.00. I certainly am satisfied with the plan. I don't know how I did without it.
*Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Bosley

Yes, we find an extra convenience in our home. It saves time for getting meals. Well, in cold packing it's kind of hard to put it up in the cans, but you usually have to leave it boil in water about three hours . . . and you get it ready for freezing in about forty-five seconds. We believe the outstanding convenience is that you can put your finger on anything you want at any time.

"Egg Laws" Enacted In 47 States

No Two Measures Are Alike, Expert Urges Uniformity

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Forty-seven states have "egg laws," yet no two are exactly alike.

This was pointed out today by Agriculture Department marketing specialist Paul Mehl in an article written in the current issue of Agricultural Marketing, a department publication.

The aims of all egg laws are the same—to market eggs effectively to the greatest advantage of the producers, to facilitate interstate commerce in eggs and egg products, and to prevent misrepresentation in advertising and labeling eggs.

But, says Mehl, the rules which states apply to achieve these aims are not the same. These rules vary from state to state much to the concern of state marketing officials, egg handlers, and distributors as well as state college and agriculture department personnel.

Mehl said insufficient funds are the big stumbling block in the way of bringing about uniform egg laws.

Despite the trend toward uniformity both between U. S. standards and grades and those of individual states, very important difference still exist among state laws, says Mehl.

For example, the word "fresh" is referred to by 39 states in their egg laws—three of them even have separate laws pertaining to fresh eggs. Yet, says Mehl, the quality specifications for so-called fresh eggs are not the same in all these states.

Usually, fresh eggs are described as being eggs of a quality equal to, or better than, grade A eggs. Mehl points out, however, that one state allows labeling which emplies freshness for Grade B eggs.

Obviously, says Mehl, variability in egg laws and in the enforcement and the system of penalities in these laws confuses persons who produce, handle, sell or buy eggs. Through the use of similar regulations, producers are more likely to receive prices consistent with the quality of eggs marketed.

The middleman and retailers would find bargaining simplified. And consumers would know from the uniform grade-markets exactly what they were buying.

$5,438 Collected For Easter Seals

Contributions for Easter Seals amount to $5,438.75 to date, or $279.75 more than was reported for the corresponding day a year ago.

As a result of last year's campaign $8,604.10 was received by the League for Crippled Children. That included $7,850.15 from Easter Seals and another $753.95 from sale of paper Easter lilies.

Persons who have received Easter Seals were reminded by Miss Henrietta Lippold, executive secretary of the Crippled Children's League, that the large stamp in the middle of each sheet of seals is for display in the window of each contributor's home.

Moorefield Fellowship To Start Sunday School

Snyder Renamed Morgan School Superintendent

BERKELEY SPRINGS — Verl W. Snyder was reappointed superintendent of Morgan County schools for a two-year term, beginning July 1, by the Board of Education this week.

Snyder, who came here in 1946 as assistant superintendent, was promoted to superintendent about two years later.

It was decided that the schools operate on Daylight Saving Time when the local change is made in this month. This will affect only those schools east of Sideling Hill Mountain.

Letters were read from the Berkeley Springs Grade School PTA and the Morgan County Education Association in which these organizations endorsed the proposed school of capitation tax for $10 per person.

MOOREFIELD — A Sunday School will be started by Moorefield Church of the Brethren Fellowship Sunday at 10 a. m. in the firemen's hall. The Christian Education committee responsible for planning the school is composed of Mrs. Fannie Neff, C. A. Ludwick Jr and Albert Hatterman.

Rev. Alfred Shaver has been chosen to serve as superintendent, and Rev. Charles Combs will be his assistant. Mrs. William Funkhouser is the secretary.

Classes will be held for all ages.

Sunday, worship services will be changed from 7:30 to 11:30 a. m. Rev. Norman Harsh, executive secretary for the First District of West Virginia, will be the guest minister. On the following Sunday, April 14, the guest minister will be Rev. Galen E. Fike, Eglon.

The Fellowship has been conducting services regularly in the hall each Sunday night for the past two and one half years. Rev. Morris E. Beeghley served the group as pastor for two years. Since he and Mrs. Beeghley returned to Chicago last August to complete seminary training, the services have been conducted by local members of the group and by visiting ministers from nearby areas of Virginia and West Virginia.

West Virginia Korea Vet Bonus Payment Hits Snag

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Officials who will supervise payment of West Virginia's bonus to Korean veterans will try to smooth out one administrative problem at a conference in Washington Monday.

The problem is that certificates of service now issued by the armed forces show overall dates of service but do not break them down into dates for domestic service and foreign service.

Since payment of the bonus will be the basis of $10 a month for service in the United States and $15 a month for foreign service, it is necessary to verify dates for each. The maximum bonus will be $30 for those who served only in this country, and $400 for those who went overseas.

The same problem, with respect to Navy discharges only, arose during West Virginia's bonus program for World War I and II veterans. World War II navy discharges did not show foreign service dates and the State had to employ personnel at record centers in Washington and Garden City, Long Island, to verify the dates on bonus applications from Navy veterans.

C. S. Collier Jr., director of veterans affairs; Gene Crutchfield, Collier's assistant, and Frank Caudy, chief of the State Bonus Division, will meet in Washington Monday afternoon with representatives of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

State officials will attempt to work out an arrangement where by the services will verify dates on certificates of service without involving the necessity for employment by the State of personnel at various record centers throughout the country.

GRANTSVILLE—The Cove Future Farmers of America Chapter of Northern High School is sponsoring a community improvement project. This project is conducted through local chapters of Future Farmers of America as a supplement to the National FFA Foundation Farm Safety Program.

The objective is to make farms of the community safer places on which to live and work.

In this safety campaign, members of the chapter are divided into teams of two. Each team will inspect a group of farms to look for hazards such as poor electric wiring, uncovered wells, unshielded machinery and broken steps that threaten life, limb or property.

This program does two things: (1) It provides direct action—not just safety propaganda; (2) It educates where education does the most good—in the schools.

Maybe Saturday, April 13, should be designated as "Cumberland Day" at College Park.

That's the day the University of Maryland climaxes its spring football practice with a game against an Alumni team loaded with All-Americans.

No less than seven Cumberland boys are slat edto see action for the varsity, four of whom might even be starters. A pair of local ex-Terp greats from Cumberland will coach the Alumni, while Tommy Mont, onetime Allegany High standout, is starting his second season as head coach of the varsity.

In charge of the grads is Fred Davis, captain of the 1949 Maryland team, while his assistant will be John Alderton, co-captain of the 1952 Terrapins. Both are proteges of Bill Hahn at Fort Hill and both turned out to be great collegiate ends under Jim Tatum at College Park.

Davis, who also coached the grads in the spring game three years ago, has sent out invitations to 60 former Maryland stars. Now a beer distributor in the Washington area, Fred says he expects a squad of about 50 to show up for the seventh annual spring battle sponsored by Maryland's M Club. Proceeds go to the scholarship fund for minor sports at the university.

In addition to getting a preview of the team that will carry Maryland's hopes for a return next season to the lofty position it held in years past as a national power, fans will be given another glimpse of the players who helped put the Terps on the football map.

Included on the squad that Davis and Alderton will head are no less than 13 who won All-America honors of some sort while wearing the Red a nd White and are continuing to bring distinction to Maryland in professional football.

This star-studded array is headed by a quartet of tackles—Ray Krouse, Detroit Lions; Dick "Little Mo" Modzelewski, New York Giants (1956 NFL champs); Stan Jones, Chicago Bears, and Mike Sandusky, drafted by the San Francisco 49ers.

Quarterback All-Americans slated to play for the Alumni are Jack Scarbath, Pittsburgh Steelers, and Bernie Faloney, who led Edmonton to the Canadian League championship several years ago and signed with Hamilton in the same league next fall following his discharge from the Air Force.

Halfback All-Americans are Ronnie Waller, "Rookie of the Year" in 1955 with the Los Angeles Rams; Chet Hanulak, Cleveland Browns, and Ed Vereb, leading scorer in the Canadian League last year with Vancouver.

The fullbacks with All-American stature are Ed "Big Mo" Modzelewski, Browns ,and Dick Bielski, Philadelphia Eagles, while the centers are Bob Pellegrini, Eagles, and Tom Cosgrove, Colts.

Five of the seven Cumberlanders on the varsity are erstwhile Fort Hill stars, headed by center Gene Alderton, elected co-captain for the 1957 season. Bill Steppe, at end, and Ron Athey, at guard, are other ex-Sentinel sparklers working out on the first team, while Allegany's Rod Breedlove, who will be a sophomore next fall, is given an excellent chance of making the team either at end or guard.

The other three local players on the Terp squad are Ken Poling and Ron Shaffer, both ends from Fort Hill, and Barry Sterner, a tackle from Allegany.

Halfback John McVicker would have made the eighth Cumberlander on the squad, but the speed merchant from Fort Hill is scheduled to enter military service next month. In addition, several days ago he suffered a recurrence of an injury sustained to his knee in the opener against Syracuse last fall .

Adding another dash of Cumberland flavor to the April 13 dish is the appearance of Roy Lester on the varsity coaching staff, Roy going to Maryland a year ago after four seasons as Allegany's grid mentor.

Tickets for the game are on sale in Cumberland at the Wilson Hardware Company. The pasteboards also entitle holders to admission to the lacrosse game, starting at noon, between Maryland's national champions and Virginia.

Opening kickoff for the football game in Byrd Stadium is set for 2:30 p. m.

Davis' last role as varsity coach in 1954 found the grads romping to a 26-6 victory. Hanulak, Scarbath, Dick Nolan, and Carney Scioscia scored touchdowns for Davis' team, while Russ Dennis talled for the varsity.

Sharp Robin Roberts Eyes 20-Victory 'Rut'

Surrenders But One Hit To Yanks In Eight Heats

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Robin Roberts, trim, fit and doing things with a curve, looks ready to get back into that old 20-victory rut again. No more piddlin' 19-victory seasons for Robin.

The big, control-conscious right-hander, a basic reason for the Philadelphia Phillies being in or near the National League's first division for seven seasons, appears at ease again on the mound.

The 30-year-old veteran, troubled by a back ailment last year, gave the New York Yankees a look at the best pitching they've seen this spring yesterday. It wasn't until after Robin left for a pinch-hitter that the world champions managed to gain a 1-0 victory.

Permits Only One Hit

For eight innings, Roberts permitted but one hit—a bunt single by Hank Bauer that opened the fourth inning. The first nine Yanks went down in order. Robin retired 18 in a row with the ball never leaving the infield. He faced only 26 batters, struck out three, walked none.

The only other Yank to reach base was Jerry Coleman, safe on Willie Jones' error in the eighth.

In the ninth, Yankee rookie Woody Held tripled off rookie righthander Dick Farrell and Gil McDougald followed with a sacrifice fly that brought home the run and lifted the Yanks over .500 despite only two hits.

McDougald Saves Day

McDougald junked the Phils' bid in the ninth, stabbing a "sure" RBI hit to center by Ted Kazanski that got reliefer Bobby Shantz out of the inning. Shantz had relieved Whitey Ford, who gave five hits, walked three but struck out six in seven innings—his first work since March 23 because of a tender arm. Ford has allowed only one run in 21 innings for an 0.43 ERA.

Elsewhere, Brooklyn battered Milwaukee 14-8; Chicago's White Sox nipped the Boston Red Sox 6-5 in 11 innings; the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Detroit 5-4; Pittsburgh's singles beat Kansas City 4-3; Cincinnati rallied to defeat Washington 5-4 in 10; the New York Giants halted Cleveland's winning streak at six games 9-6, and Baltimore walloped Chicago's Cubs 18-5.

Terps, Carolina Play Tomorrow

By The Associated Press

Only one Atlantic Coast Conference baseball game, a non-conference affair, was scheduled today as the other ACC teams rested before a flurry of action tomorrow.

Harvard's touring nine was to face Virginia at Charlottesville today. Monday the Crimson lost to Maryland, another ACC club, 2-1 in a game called after six innings because of rain.

The only action yesterday saw South Carolina edge Erskine 3-2.

Maryland's invasion of Georgetown yesterday was canceled because of rain.

Two ACC games, North Carolina State at Wake Forest and North Carolina at Maryland, top tomorrow's card. Furman is at Clemson in the other action.

Promoter Solomons Still Stays On Feet

LONDON —(NEA)— While all his once-proud heavyweight hopes crash around him, Jack Solomons, the promoter, seems to stay on his feet.

Why, is a mystery. Of course, Jack doesn't have the glass chin of the fighters he attempted to build (Don Cockell even lost a bout in a pub recently) but the way British boxing is set up he seems to be in too tough.

The British have a government tax of 33 ⅓ per cent on boxing. The British Board of Boxing Control takes a five per cent tax from the two highest paid fighters on a card.

"No," the promoter's aides insist, "Jack isn't down to paying off in fish just yet," referring to Solomons' one-time status as a fishmonger.

Carolina Man Hoping To Buy Redskin Team

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Does Owner George Preston Marshall intend to sell his Washington Redskins of the National Football League or is he playing it cozy?

The Charlotte Observer said today that Ralph Gardner of Shelby, N. C., who practices law in Washington, had offered to buy the team from Marshall in a deal that would involve close to a million dollars.

Observer sports writer Dick Pierce, who contacted Marshall in Chicago, quoted him as saying, "I'm glad to hear Ralph is worth that much — he's pretty well off isn't he."

Gardner, who told Pierce he would buy the Redskins with the idea of moving the team either to Charlotte or Miami, said he was alone in the deal with no associates.

Casey Shufflers, VFW Seek Finals

Season-champion Knights of Columbus and fourth-finishing Fort Ashby VFW can wind up the semi-finals in the American Division of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League playoffs tonight.

The Caseys hold a 22-point lead over third-place Goodfellowship Club after last night's three-game 93-71 victory on the GFC boards. The total points, six-game series ends tonight on the Casey's board, the first game set for 8:30.

Hughie "Elston" Kilroy paced the Knights with 21 points while Matt Hemmis and Lewis Kinsman shared 32 for the losers.

Fort Ashby holds a 10-point edge over runnerup Frostburg American Legion following last night's 72-62 win at the VFW Home. The last three games are listed tonight at Frostburg.

Jack Welsh and Dale Dustin Welch had 19 points apiece for the Vets with Murray getting 16 for Frostburg.

Bethesda Natator Shoots For Triple

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla (AP)—The ambitions of Timothy Jecko and Al Wiggins to become triple winners in the national AAU Men's Indoor Swimming and Diving Championships clash tonight in the 100-yard butterfly event.

Wiggins, an Ohio State University senior from Pittsburgh, won the AAU butterfly title last year. Jecko, a sophomore at Yale University, won the butterfly as one of his three titles in the national collegiate meet at Chapel Hill, N. C., last week.

Jecko and Wiggins took a victory each in yesterday's four AAU events.

Jacko, whose home is Bethesda, Md., competes for the New Haven, Conn., Swim Club. Wiggins swims unattached from Pittsburgh.

Richard Fadgen of the North Carolina Athletic Club is defending champion in the breaststroke.

Mom Says Settle When 'Price Right'

LAKELAND, Fla. — (NEA) — When Jack Tighe was offered the job of managing the Tigers, he telephoned his mother, who was at home in Kearny, N. J.

"How much salary did Detroit offer you?" she asked.

"Oh, about $5,000 less than Casey Stengel," was his kidding retort.

Stengel draws $75,000 from the Yankees, Tighe one third of that.

Tighe's mother became excited.

"Now, son," she cut in, "don't ask for too much. They might give the job to somebody else. You've worked for this a long time."

Baer Doesn't Change From Clowning Role

DENVER, Colo. — (AP) — Max Baer, the former world heavyweight boxing champion, is still the same clowning Maxie at 48. When a photographer asked Baer to pose for a picture during a Denver visit, Maxie quipped:

"You think anyone will recognize me standing up?"

Ringmanship Saves Tunney In Long Count

This is the fourth of six articles providing the full, dramatic story of Gene Tunney's rise to boxing greatness and fame and describing the life he leads today as a businessman, husband and father.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(Copyright, 1957, By International News Service)

A fighter knocked down in the prize ring is "the loneliest man in the world. He is strictly on his own.

Gene Tunney was recalling the most dramatic moment of his ring career, in the seventh round of his second heavyweight championship battle with Jack Dempsey, when Tunney was knocked down for the so-called "long count."

It was the first and only time Tunney had been floored in 68 professional fights.

"For ten years I had visualized—time and again—what I would do in such a crisis," Tunney told the writer. "When it happened to me, I followed a preconceived plan and it saved the day."

Uses 'Ringmanship'

Tunney said he employed ringmanship" to extricate himself from his predicament and go on to win the fight. He recalls that the late Hype Igoe, noted boxing writer, wrote that Tunney's ringmanship after the knockdown was "the greatest in the history of the ring."

The fight, a ten-round contest, took place in Soldier's Field in Chicago September 27, 1927, before a crowd of 104,943. The receipts reached an all-time high o. $2,658,660. Betting odds were 6 to 5, favoring Dempsey.

I was at the working press ringside that memorable night. The big arena seethed with excitement as Gene and Jack answered the opening bell.

It was a tense, unspectacular fight the first six rounds. Dempsey was fighting a different fight than he did in losing to Tunney in Philadelphia. He was extremely cautious and did a lot of feinting and clinching. Jack left few openings for Tunney, a great counter-hitter. But finally, in the fourth round, Tunney nailed him with a hard right which staggered and dazed Dempsey.

In the seventh round, Dempsey suddenly exploded. He caught Tunney on the right side of the chin with a long left hook and followed quickly with a terrific right to the chin. As Tunney sagged toward the canvas, Dempsey let go a succession of hard rights and lefts

Lovers' Leap Lone Champ To Retain Tourney Crown

Basketball did its fadeout for the 1956-57 campaign last night in the finals of the 12th annual Central YMCA-Jaycee tourney on the "Y" court. Only one quint was able to retain its 1956 championship, Lovers' Leap Esso trimming J & C TV, 52-28, for the 115-pound title.

The Collegians, a quint composed of players from the Tri-Towns, walked off with the Senior Unlimited crown by trouncing Fort Ashby VFW, 76-60; Malone's Lee Tires bagged the Junior Unlimited title with a 60-55 decision over Delmer's Grocery and Don McIntyre's won out in the 135-pound finale by 55-34 over the second Lovers' Leap Esso entry.

Collegians Win Easily

Collegians, who had won over Windy City Five, 72-62, and Moose, 95-68, had little trouble outscoring VFW from the field but the losers kept in the clash with a fine evening at the foul stripe. The winners dumped in 27 fielders to 14 for the Vets. Fort Ashby hit on a blistering .865 foul percentage on 32 of 37 to 23 of 31 for the champs.

Dave Marple led the winners with 20 points while Jim Cave tossed in 16, Don Moran 13, Mike Nofsinger and Gene Becker 10. Roger Maphis tallied 16 for the Vets with Clyde Green, Don Maphis and Fritz Showers all coming through with 13.

Malone's Lee Tires, composed of LaSalle and Fort Hill cagers, trailed for three periods but rallied in the final eight minutes to take Delmer's across. Charles "Chazz" Imes hit on nine field goals and dropped in three free throws for 21 points with Terry Weltman hooping 17 and Van Parsons 14.

Brown, Teter Star

John Teter and Carl Brown had all but six of the losers' total, Teter finishing as high man for the evening with 24 counters while Brown had 23. Eleven of Brown's tallies came on a dozen tries from the foul circle.

McIntyre's kept Lovers' Leap

LOS ANGELES — (NEA) — Prince Khaled won the Breeders Champion Stakes at Santa Anita despite a "hot spot."

Sir William took the Santa Anita Derby minus his front teeth. One-eyed Mystic Eye was a good second in the San Bernardino Handicap.

So, one southern California horse player is reported to have discontinued the use of past performances in searching for a winner.

"Just show me the vet's report," he says.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Morrow, king of the sprinters, headlines opening events of the largest of all Texas Relays today as he starts defense of his twice - won 100-yard championship and anchors a couple of relay teams that might figure in the records.

A flock of preliminaries are scheduled, these including the 100-yard dash, 440-yard relay and 880-yard relay in the university division and bringing Morrow, the Abilene Christian star of the Olympic games, into triple action.

Morrow faces the stiffest competition in his quest of a third straight championship from Bobby Whilden of Texas, who has done 9.4; Orlando Hazley of Oklahoma A&M, a 9.5 performer, and his own teammate, Bill Woodhouse, who has been pushing Bobby to the tape all season. Morrow will be after the Texas Relays record of 9.4. He ran a wind-aided 9.3 last week.

Burke Laughs At Golf Jinx In Masters Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jackie Burke Jr. is a steel-eyed Texan who laughs at the jinx that Masters champions never repeat.

"I don't let that stuff bother me," the boyish-looking 34-year-old Houston professional said after shooting the only sub-par round—a 71—of the 101 stars who took a crack at the Augusta National course yesterday.

The score was the highest ever to lead the Masters on opening day.

Today Burke tries to defend his slender lead — one stroke over five players, two strokes over eight others and only three ahead of another 13—but it's sure these challengers never faced a cooler calculator.

Feels No Pressure

"I hear the Masters champion never repeats," Jackie said. "Certainly, I know that others were favored, such as Ben Hogan and Cary Middlecoff. They should be, on their records.

"But never once did I think about these things. Not once did I feel any pressure of being a champion trying to win again. I found out long ago that there's enough to think about trying to whip a golf course.

"So there's just one thing in my mind. I go out there to beat the course, to play the best possible golf I can. Then if that isn't good enough, it's just too bad."

If Jackie were the type to get concerned, Middlecoff, the National Open champion, and Hogan, one of the great golfers of our era, wouldn't be on his "worry" list. Middlecoff, missing six putts of under three feet, soared to a 79. Hogan shot a 76.

Aussies Menacing

Closest on Jackie's heels were two menacing young Australians, British Open champion Peter Thomson and Bruce Crampton; Jimmy Demaret of Klamesha Lake, N.Y., and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., each seeking his fourth Masters title; and the old workhorse of the pro tour, Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y., former champion of the Professional Golfers Assn. and the year's leading money winner. All had par 72s.

Tied at 73 were Britain's Henry Cotton, Canada's Al Balding, Ed Furgol, Arnold Palmer, Jerry Barber, Skee Riegel and Bud Ward—and the reigning national amateur champion, Harvie Ward Jr. of San Francisco.

Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., was par for 17 holes before stopping because of darkness and needed only a par 4 on the final hole to fall into the 72 group. A birdie would give him a tie with Burke for the first-round lead.

from having a pair of champs by marking up an easy win in the 135-pound finale. Bill Chappell, Carl Emerick and Bill Fair accounted for 19, 15 and 13 of the winners' tallies. Dale Middleton's 11 points were high for the Leapers.

The other Lovers' Leap entry, and only defending champ, opened the program by handing J & C TV the 52-26 setback. Eddie Brode was the offensive star for the victors with 21 points while Gary Blake caged nine for the Video club.

Trophies were given to the players on the winning teams with silver medals being awarded cagers on the runnersup.

Ringmanship Saves Gene Tuney

en seven vicious punches in that furious flurry. With one hand he clutched the ropes, his back to the center of the ring. His light blue eyes were glazed as he peered out into the blackness of the night. The crowd was in an uproar . . .

Tunney picks up the story:

"This was the first time I had ever been on the floor. In my spot anybody could get up and fight — if you didn't think. But I had long before evolved a plan for such a situation.

"You can't get advice from anybody when you're down on the canvas. You're the loneliest man in the world. You're on your own. You must know what to do. Then is the time to use the skills of ringmanship.

"To be a great fighter, you must be able to know the corners and how to get in and out of them.

Knew What Happened

"I knew what had happened. I had figured out several maneuvers for just such an emergency.

"The first maneuver was to get up from the canvas, hang on, and maybe go down again. I ruled out this maneuver.

"The second maneuver was to take a chance, get up, and beat Dempsey to the punch. I knew from past experiences that I could hit a terrific blow when I was hurt and in danger. I was always at my best when hard pressed. In previous bouts, I could come up with a knockout blow when hurt. Striking back in a crisis is some kind of a nervous reaction which I knew applied to me.

"But I figured I couldn't do this with Jack Dempsey. He had the 'killer instinct.' He was a savage man to deal with. I knew he would be hard to hit effectively because he instinctively kept his chin tucked into his shoulder. He was a bad target. So I eliminated that maneuver.

"The one alternative left was to move away from Dempsey, and keep away from him. This I did. They say I back-pedaled. I certainly did. It was the thing to do.

"If I utilized maneuver Number One, Dempsey could hold me up and rabbit punch me in the back of the head. If I used maneuver two, I was taking a chance. Maybe in my condition I couldn't beat him to the punch.

"The third maneuver — the one I used — was the proper one. It was what a general does when he pulls back after his first lines have been broken through. He reorganizes in the rear, and makes the proper attack when he has reorganized. That's what I did."

Realized Plight

Tunney said he realized his plight and knew what was going on, as referee Dave Barry sounded "count 2." Then, he added, "My noodle began to work."

Barry did not start the count the moment Tunney was floored. The rules of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, which had been carefully explained to both fighters, provided that a fallen boxer was not considered down until his opponent went to a corner farthest from the man he downed.

Dempsey had disregarded the knockdown rule. Instead, he went to the nearest corner after flooring Tunney. Jack's chest was heaving. He stretched his arms across the ropes.

The referee rushed over and told Dempsey to get over to the right corner. Jack wouldn't budge. Amid all the excitement, he didn't seem to understand Barry at first. Finally, Dempsey switched to the other corner. Then, and not until then, did referee Barry begin to count.

At the count of "four," Tunney, his head clearing, glanced toward his corner and saw his seconds frantically signalling him to stay down and take a nine-count. Tunney himself realized that the first nine seconds of a knockdown belong to the man who is on the floor.

As Barry tolled "nine," Tunney sprang to his feet and immediately began back-pedalling. Dempsey plunged after him couldn't catch up with Gene, whose footwork was superb.

Bent On Vengeance

When Tunney came out for the eighth, he was fully recovered and bent on vengeance. He found an opening and let go a short right hook to the jaw which toppled Dempsey. Dempsey, however, got right up without taking a count.

From then on Tunney was the master. The rest of the way Tunney jabbed and socked his opponent unmercifully, his sharp jabs cutting gashes over both of Dempsey's eyes, and his right crosses bobbing Jack's head.

The final bell found Dempsey almost out on his feet. His lips were swollen and he was bleeding freely. He had been clearly beaten, and the referee so decided.

But from that day to this there has been discussion and controversy regarding "the long count."

Before the fight, Chicago was full of rumors. One was that Dempsey was going to lie down; another persistent rumor was that Tunney was going to "take a dive" (feign a knockout) in the seventh round.

I asked Tunney about "fixed" fights. He said he had never been involved in one, and added:

"All this stuff about 'fixing' a fight is hokum."

Retirement Sticks

Tunney fought one more fight—and then retired as undefeated champion. On July 26, 1928, at the Polo Grounds in New York City, Tunney whipped Tom Heeney, "the Australian Hard Rock." The fight was stopped in the eleventh round with Heeney cut to pieces and virtually helpless.

The "most scientific fighter since James J. Corbett" announced shortly after the Heeney bout that he was definitely through with the ring. Nobody could make Tunney change his mind. He was only 29, and could have fought on for some years. But he had other plans in mind.

Leo Burke San Antonio Sensation

ALPINE, Tex. (AP) — Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles says rookie outfielder Leo Burke of Hagerstown, Md., is the sensation at the training camp of the Birds' San Antonio farm club.

Burke, a former VPI athlete, was signed last February to a major league non-bonus contract. He was left behind in Scottsdale, Ariz., when Baltimore broke camp Monday.

Richards said Burke has hit several "tape-measure" home runs for the Missions in their exhibition games against Memphis of the Southern Assn. San Antonio is in the Class AA Texas League.

Last Of Old Browns Gone From Orioles

ALPINE, Tex. (AP) — The last active player inherited by the Baltimore Orioles from the roster of the old St. Louis Browns has been disposed of by the Orioles.

Right-hander Charlie Locke, once considered a hot prospect, was sold to Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League yesterday after other major league clubs refused to claim him for the $10,000 waiver price.

The 24-year-old pitcher had used up his three allowable options while trying to make the Oriole roster every spring since 1954. His record last season with Vancouver and San Antonio was 9-17.

Coach Harry Brecheen is the last survivor from the Browns, which became the Orioles at the end of the 1953 season.

Boston, Montreal Make Cup Finals

By International News Service

The greatest scorer in national Hockey League history and a converted wingman have led the Montreal Canadiens and the Boston Bruins into the finals of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Montreal, on Maurice (The Rocket) Richards' "sudden death" overtime goal, beat the New York Rangers, 4 to 3, last night and Boston, with Doug Mohns chipping in three points, edged the Detroit Red Wings, also by a 4-to-3 score.

Both victors won their best-of-seven series in five games.

Speiser Heavy Favorite In Elimination Tonight

DETROIT (AP)—It will be the slam-bang style of Chuck Spieser against the quick-fisted counter punches of Tony Anthony when the two light heavyweights battle tonight for the right to meet champion Archie Moore.

Spieser is a heavy favorite in the scheduled 12-rounder which will be televised nationally (NBC, 10 p.m.) from Detroit's Olympia Stadium. It's the two-time Olympic battler's first "big" fight in his home town, and a victory would mean an opportunity to take on Moore in a June 7 battle in the same stadium.

But Anthony, who has 22 knockouts to his credit in his 29-4 record, is confident almost to the point of being cocky.

"Where do they get that business of 13-5 odds?" he asked the day before the bout. "Who did Spieser ever beat, anyway?"

Anthony, the quicker of the two and a capable puncher with either hand, feels he can elude the rockhard body punches with which Spieser has been so successful. The Detroit fighter generally moves in just one direction — forward — and is most effective at close range.

Each fighter is expected to scale a pound or two under the 175-pound limit at the noon weigh-in, but Spieser packs his weight on a 5-feet-9 frame while Anthony is nearly four inches taller.

Spieser, 27, and Anthony's teammate on the 1952 Olympic boxing team, is regarded as the No. 1 contender for Moore's crown. On the strength of six straight victories, Anthony is third-ranked. Spieser has won 19 bouts, 14 by knockout, has lost four times and fought to one draw.

He hasn't been in action since late 1956 when he knocked out German Willi Hoepner in two rounds.

The fight will be scored on the five-point must system.

Midland Legion Cited By Board

A hearing will be held April 16 at 10 a. m. by the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners for the American Legion Post 169, Midland.

The Legion post has been cited to show cause why its license to sell intoxicating beverages should not be suspended or revoked.

The order notes that Joseph G. Robertson, Earl Mills and Francis J. Cullen were tried March 28 by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason and were convicted of permitting consumption of alcoholic beverages on Sunday in violation of Section 83 (I) of the Alcoholic Beverages Laws. They received a $50 suspended fine.

Sheriff Edward R. Muir was ordered to serve a copy of the order upon the licensees by today. It was signed by Waller C. Capper, chairman, and Stanley O. Hamilton and Howard W. Vandegrift, as members.

Revival Scheduled

Bethel Evangelical United Brethren Church will begin a series of revival meetings Sunday, according to Rev. Raymond Campbell, pastor, who said the services will be held daily at 7:30 p. m.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of J. E. Moats. God called home, six years ago April 5, 1951.
We really miss you Pop,
Since God took you away.
With broken hearts we watched you,
Saw you pass away.
And tho we tried to Pop,
We could not make you stay.
We were standing at your bedside and saw your life depart,
And when we knew you were gone,
It almost broke our hearts.
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But no, that isn't true.
For six long years have passed Pop
And our hearts still ache for you.
Wife, Daughters and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our husband, father, and grandfather, Howard P. Miller, who passed away three years ago, April 5, 1954.
Your memory to us is a keepsake
With which we will never part
Though God has you in his keeping
We will have you in our hearts.
Loving wife, son, granddaughter Coleen.

Cards of Thanks

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our wife and sister, Mrs. Dewey Porter. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, and to all others who in any way rendered assistance.
Husband and Sisters

Jacoby On Bridge

No-Trump Bid Easily Made

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

North's two diamond response today was the Jacoby transfer bid and demanded that South re-bid in hearts.

No one vulnerable

South	West	North	East
1 N.T.	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 N.T.	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♥ 3

South dutifully bid two hearts whereupon North bid three clubs. This bid was not a transfer but merely showed that North held a heart-club two suiter. It was also a forcing bid since North would have dropped the contract at two hearts if he held a poor hand.

In spite of the fact that North had shown a two-suit hand South decided to contract for three no-trump. North had told his story, trusted South's judgment and passed. It was just as well that he did. Four hearts would almost surely have gone down.

West opened the three of hearts against the three no-trump contract and East's eight forced declarer's queen.

South led hearts right back and played dummy's seven. East won with the nine and chose to lead the three of spades. South played the ten and West the king. At this point three no-trump was home but poor West decided to return a spade.

This play gave declarer three spade tricks and he promptly took them, discarding two hearts and a diamond from dummy. He then proceeded to run the club suit and on the last club lead East was hopelessly squeezed. He had to throw away the queen of diamonds in order to hang on to the ace of hearts. This allowed declarer to make the last two tricks with the ace and jack of diamonds.

♥♣CARD Sense♦♠

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♥	1 ♠	Pass
1 N.T.	Pass	2 ♠	Pass

You, South, hold:
♠ 8 5 ♥ K J 7 ♦ A 3 2 ♣ A J 9 8 7

What do you do?

A—Pass. You have a minimum bid and your partner has not forced or even asked you to try another bid.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You hold the same hand. After your bid of one no-trump your partner has jumped to three spades. What do you do?

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, April 6, 1957

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Hectic rounds of activity do not necessarily signify accomplishment; neither do they make for peace of mind. Maintain an even pace for real attainment. Eliminate flaws in your program, too.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — STOP, THINK, REALLY ponder. Are there not ways in which you could do better — especially when it comes to small details? You won't make so many foolish errors if you will re-read, re-check. Mostly favorable aspects.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Don't procrastinate, then rush at the last moment; don't maintain too hectic a pace. You, loved ones, associates will rue it later. Someone is always watching, taking example, forming opinions.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Steer away from tricky, questionable propositions that may be offered today. P. M. may bring opportunities for a business journey, new contracts or friendships; be serious about these.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Unusual possibilities in the offing. You may hear something disillusioning about an associate but be sure before believing all you hear. Be patient; things usually right themselves.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Bright hours ahead: take a new lease on optimism; start early, forgetting past adverses. Business, banking, employment, trading, outdoor activities all favored, along with family, heart interests.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Ambitious, clever ideas are worthless if you don't put them to work — and well. Aspects assist only when we help ourselves; this covers business, work-a-day matters, also personal affairs.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — A couple of old but ever new sayings like "mind your P's and Q's" and "don't speak out of turn" just suit this day. Where there is a will Scorpio will find a way — and all on the credit side, we trust.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — There are people who would determine one's good fortune daily, but there are also those (whom we least note since they are the least conspicuous about their goodness) who would assist. Know YOUR friends.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — This is a time for reviewing to make sure one is on the right track, to enlist every honorable means to gain in truly worthwhile matters.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Be not too quick to judge, even though your intuition is often correct. Weigh matters carefully, so you won't make needless errors on this generous day. There are many things in your favor.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Start with the assumption that you are going to succeed eventually at whatever you must, should and honorably can, then go ahead at a steady tempo. Piling up little gains makes a mountain of achievement.

YOU BORN TODAY are enterprising, eager, impulsive, independent, willing to work hard. You are quick to become angry, but as quick to forgive and offer a helping hand. Travel stimulates your receptive mind. You are a good provider for your loved ones, anxious to have them enjoy all good things. But you are not always willing to accept criticism. Learn to work amicably with others.
